Steel-Labor Talks Recess For Weekend

Rest May Aid Both Sides To Attack Problems Next Week

CLEVELAND (AP) — The steel industry labor negotiations are in weekend recess. A wildcat strike at Republic Steel Corp.'s local plant was being smoothed out Friday night. But around the Great Lakes there was some resistance to the United Steelworkers of America order to keep the ore boats going.

In New York, there was a joint announcement from negotiators for 12 major steel companies and the union, which is headed by David J. McDonald.

Week "Wearing"

It said that because the past week has been "exceedingly wearing," Friday's session was recessed after one hour. A weekend of "rest and meditation" would help both sides attack their problems better next week, it said.

Labor contracts were to have expired June 30 but were extended two weeks at the request of President Eisenhower.

The wildcat strike at the local Republic Steel plant was the last of several to which McDonald and his aides had to turn their attention while the negotiations lagged in New York.

Vote To Return

Open hearth workers, who had started the local walkout Tuesday night, voted late Friday to return at the urging of union officers all along the line.

Republic employs between 8,000 and 9,000 here, and had scheduled its furnaces to keep operating over the holiday weekend. Thursday, it obtained a court order against picketing and announced that five leaders of the unauthorized walkout were "provisionally fired."

Ship Explodes, Sinks In Sea

PANAMA (AP) — The Colombian ship Rio Atrato sank in the Caribbean Friday after a fire and explosion.

The German ship Eissen radioed it was headed for the Panama Canal port of Cristobal, 200 miles away, with 38 survivors.

Messages received here by 15th U.S. Naval District headquarters indicated there might be as many as five persons unaccounted for, but officials said this could not be verified.

Only minor injuries were reported among the survivors.

A previous report from the Eissen indicated there were about 40 persons aboard the Rio Atrato.

The only description available here of the Rio Atrato said it was a large ship. (Current shipping guides do not list it.)

The Colombian ship was traveling from Cartagena, in northern Colombia, to the island of San Andres off the Nicaraguan coast.

The vessel caught fire Thursday about 200 miles northeast of the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal. She sank early Friday.

Thieves Caught

PENZANCE, England (UPI) — A modern version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" was played in court here when the crew of the French fishing boat La Salle was charged with sneaking into Penzance Bay and snaring lobsters. The catch was confiscated and the crewmen were fined $140.

13-Year-Old Boy Battles Shark, Arm Is Gashed

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — A plucky 13-year old boy who beat a sand shark in an underwater wrestling match said Friday he "wasn't scared 'cause I've seen my father catch them in his bare hands plenty of times."

The boy, King Scherer, was skindiving when he was attacked by the two-foot shark Thursday. King fastened a firm headlock on the shark, rose to the surface and swam to shore.

Scherer required 20 stitches to close a gash in his arm as a result of the fight.

Tense Years Face Nation, Whip States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Whip Mike Mansfield said Friday Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov's American visit has made it clear the United States faces "years of tension" in dealing with the Kremlin.

The Montana Democrat, whose own proposals for resolving the Berlin crisis have attracted the attention of Soviet Premier Khrushchev, said the Kozlov visit produced no evidence of any change in Russia's tough policy toward the West.

"This is not a game of marbles," the Senate Foreign Relations committee member said in an interview. "It is time the American people realize we face years of tension in dealing with the Soviet Union."

Mansfield said this appraisal was underscored by published reports of ex-Gov. Averell Harriman's recent talk with Khrushchev, which emphasized anew the tough and tough Soviet attitude. "We should not be surprised by the Harriman report," he said. "We ought to be aware of Soviet determination by this time because we have been learning the hard way and we have paid for some of our mistakes already."

Mansfield said that when Kozlov lunched with the Foreign Relations Committee this week, he reminded the Soviet official that Khrushchev last February expressed approval of Mansfield's ideas on cracking the Berlin stalemate.

Mansfield recalled that Khrushchev called his proposals "sober and sensible"—but that Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko later rejected most of the same ideas at the Geneva Ministers' conference.

Siles To Attempt Rebel Surrender

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — President Hernan Siles flew to Santa Cruz in eastern Bolivia Friday to try to induce some 300 rebels to surrender to government troops. The rebels took Santa Cruz in a brief uprising last week but fled to the hills before government reinforcements moved on the city. The army says the rebels now are surrounded.

Record Ruling Made

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold MacMillan said Thursday Britain will open its top-secret cabinet records to public inspection once they are at least 50 years old. MacMillan, in a written reply to a question, told Parliament that Queen Elizabeth had approved this policy "unless there is a strong objection in any particular case against doing so."

President Sends Holiday Message To The Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Friday sent this Fourth of July message to all American citizens abroad: "State the facts of freedom and trust in God."

On this 183rd anniversary of American independence, the chief executive used modern, world-wide communications facilities to transmit unusual greetings to Americans abroad, including those in uniform, on diplomatic mission, at work or traveling as tourists.

He pointed out that in 183 years the United States had developed an industrialized society while still maintaining personal freedom; that this was a nation of rule of law where the working man obtained an increasingly larger share of the fruits of his labor; a land where freedom of information and of movement was guaranteed.

Eisenhower admitted that not all of these achievements existed uniformly and that the country

Kozlov Denies Discrimination In Russia

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov denied vigorously Friday that there is discrimination against Jews in the Soviet Union. He said they live a "much better life in the U.S.S.R. than they do in Israel."

The visiting Soviet leader displayed marked sensitiveness about a question on this subject, put to him in an airborne news conference en route from Washington to Sacramento.

Kozlov, considered by many to be at least No. 3 man in the Kremlin, also said in effect that Moscow has no authority to interfere with subversive activities of Communist parties in any country, including the United States. He contended there is no connection between the Communists in the U.S.S.R. and those in other countries except the links represented by common ideas.

Kozlov and his party of Soviet dignitaries and newsmen arrived in Sacramento aboard a chartered plane at 1:15 p.m. after a nine-hour trip nonstop across the continent. He left Washington after 2½ days in the capital where he talked with Eisenhower administration leaders. In those talks he repeated the tough line of Soviet policy on outstanding world issues, particularly on questions concerning divided Germany and Berlin.

He intends to use the money to travel across Canada before returning in the fall to his studies at Cambridge University.

Police Seek Youth's Killer

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (UPI) — Police Friday issued an alarm for a white panel truck with an Alaskan license plate in which the murderer of an American student may be travelling.

The victim was Bruce Worline, 25, of Santa Monica Calif., who was studying at the Alaska University in Fairbanks.

His body was found Sunday in northeast British Columbia by a woman picknicker. Police said the youth was driving home in his truck for vacation when he was shot to death, probably by a hitchhiker. They said the murderer might still be driving the truck.

Police identified the youth on Thursday after Worline's father asked Canadian customs to ask if his son had passed through Blaine Wash., on his way home. The name Bruce Worline fitted in with initials printed on a sweater found on the body.

There were two bullet wounds in Worline's head and one in his shoulder, police said. His body was hidden in a thick clump of bushes near picnic grounds.

Bruises on Worline's knuckles indicated a fierce struggle had taken place before he was shot.

Boatman Beaten, Thrown Overboard

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — An Annapolis man told police Friday he was beaten and thrown overboard by six men who boarded his rowboat in the Severn River off the Naval Academy.

William Voinche, 29, said the men swooped down on him in two 35-foot workboats and accused him of stealing their crabs.

His motor was disabled and his crabs were thrown overboard, Voinche said.

Car, Camel Collide

350 Highway Deaths Seen Over Holiday

By The Associated Press
Millions of automobiles rolled over the pavements Friday night carrying Americans on July 4 weekend outings.

Safety experts estimated 45 million cars would take part in the big holiday shuffle of the population.

City dwellers headed for rustic resorts for a two-day retreat from the everyday bustle.

Rural residents took their places in the cities to attend ball games, horse races, tour museums and visit other urban points of interest.

In the 54 hours between 6 p.m. Friday night and midnight Sunday, the National Safety Council estimated 350 motorists and pedestrians may die in the heavy traffic.

Such a toll would be well above that of a non-holiday weekend and would exceed by 40 the 310 deaths counted over the Memorial Day weekend, also a Saturday-Sunday holiday.

To obtain a figure for comparison The Associated Press surveyed the 54-hour nonholiday weekend of June 20-21 and counted 240 traffic deaths. The Memorial Day weekend toll ran 48 above the 262 deaths counted in a survey in mid-May.

The last time July 4 fell on Saturday was in 1953. That two-day weekend produced 262 traffic fatalities.

To control the swarm of traffic and hold deaths and injuries to a minimum, police and traffic officials over the nation mustered manpower and resources for emergency safety programs.

Exchanges Closed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock and commodity exchanges throughout the country were closed Friday for an extended Fourth of July weekend. They reopen Monday morning.

Nation Heads For Holiday Weekend Under New Flag, Threat Of Death

By United Press International
The nation headed Friday night into a Fourth of July weekend under a new flag and the threat of a record-breaking 350 traffic deaths.

The 183rd anniversary of the nation's independence was the signal to break out a 49-star spangled banner over the Capitol at Washington and Fort McHenry, Md., at a minute past midnight Saturday.

The new flag, with Alaska's star added but lacking Hawaii's, will be hoisted elsewhere throughout the nation after daybreak.

But as the nation celebrated this special glorious fourth, the first of an estimated national weekend traffic load of 45 million cars began moving. The weather was good and the highway track was fast. Safety experts feared this combination would mean the most murderous two-day independence day holiday on the books.

The National Safety Council issued the prediction of 350 traffic deaths between 6 p.m. local time Friday and midnight Sunday, barring a life-saving slowdown on the roads.

If traffic smashups exceed the

Doctors Tell Long Not To Campaign

Gov. Vows To Make Political Stump Across Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Gov. Earl K. Long planned a triumphal return to Baton Rouge Friday vowing to take the political stump across Louisiana Saturday despite doctors' warnings that he cannot stand it.

Six physicians advised Long against making his planned whirlwind stump speechmaking tour, but the governor said he was going anyway, depending only on how he feels in the morning.

If he feels all right when he awakes Saturday, he said he would be off on the campaign trail.

"It is our duty only to advise him," said Dr. Paul Pratt, a spokesman for the doctors who examined Long Friday. "Any decisions are his own."

Long left the state capital May 30 in a plane which flew him to Galveston, Tex., to enter a psychiatric clinic. He has returned only once — for a brief time, only to be seized and committed to a Louisiana mental hospital June 18.

Faltering Heart

His physical troubles include a faltering heart, weakened by a heart attack 10 years ago and a slight failure Wednesday night, asthma, over exertion, shortness of breath, a possible stroke and nervous breakdown. But the 63-year-old governor, determined to bid for a fourth term as chief executive, awakened at 5 a.m. Friday, issued telephone orders to his political aides and prepared to return in style to the skyscraper capitol built by his assassinated brother, Huey (Kingfish) Long.

He invited a few close friends and associates to dinner at the executive mansion Friday night following his return.

Seeks Advice

At his third-floor Roosevelt Hotel suite in New Orleans, Long sought up-to-the minute medical advice from his physicians. An electrocardiograph was wheeled into the suite, ostensibly for readings. He also ordered a new tailored wardrobe.

A number of Long's friends also apparently attempted to persuade the fiery political leader to give up his stump tour plans, but to no avail. He planned four speeches and a plane trip to attend the finals of a bathing beauty contest.

Police Department Clerk Arrested

NEW YORK (UPI) — A woman employe in the police department's division of licenses was suspended Friday for driving without a license.

Officials said Mrs. Dorothy T. Whitfield, 39, a clerk in the department, also was charged with driving while intoxicated and failing to give the right of the way to another vehicle, which she rammed in the rear.

The other vehicle was a police car.

Detroit Mayor Won't Greet Frol Kozlov

DETROIT (UPI) — State Department or no State Department, the mayor of Detroit won't shake hands with Russia's top deputy premier when he arrives here next week—and in fact, would rather the Soviet official stayed away from the motor city.

Mayor Louis C. Miriani made his attitude crystal clear Friday in an exchange of telegrams with top officials of the United States State Department who had asked him to greet Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov next Tuesday.

"I believe his trip is not in the public interest," said Miriani in telegrams to both Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Special Assistant Secretary William S. B. Lacey.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Kozlov is not coming to Detroit in an official capacity, it would be well to advise him not to come," Miriani said in his wire to Lacey.

Lacey had sent a routine telegram to Miriani notifying him of the Russian official's pending visit to Detroit and asking him to extend the courtesy of greeting him. Miriani brushed aside the Lacey request in a 50-word reply winding up with the suggestion that State Department advise Kozlov not to come.

Friday, Secretary of State Herter sent a telegram urging Miriani to reconsider, and pointing out that Kozlov already had been greeted by President Eisenhower Vice-President Nixon and Herter himself, and had been entertained by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He asked again that Miriani greet Kozlov "as a gesture in the national interest."

Miriani shot back a 240-word reply reiterating his stand that Kozlov's visit was "not in the public interest" and that he would not greet him.

Talks Canceled

GENEVA (AP) — The regular session of the three-power conference on a nuclear test ban was canceled Friday to allow U.S., British and Soviet scientists to discuss differences on methods of detecting high-altitude blasts.

Says Cubans Don't Want Intervention

Warplanes Drone Overhead During TV Appearance

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro, speaking while warplanes droned overhead and gunfire crackled in the pre-dawn darkness, Friday defied U.S. proposals for peace in the Caribbean.

In an early-morning TV appearance, Castro declared that Cuba will not consent to intervention in its affairs by the organization of American States, the agency which President Eisenhower had said should undertake the task of preventing war between this country and the Dominican Republic.

He linked the Dominican charge that Cuba and Venezuela are preparing a new invasion of the Dominican Republic with such other recent events as the "treacherous desertion" of Cuban air force chief Pedro Diaz Laiz.

The premier said he will mass half a million peasants "with their machetes" here on July 26, the name-date of his rebel movement, to "show that neither treason nor threats frighten us."

Tension Heightens

As Castro spoke, the drone of aircraft engines over Camp Liberty and the Havana waterfront heightened tension in the Cuban Capital.

The night-long air activity, officially described as "training flights," was regarded by observers here as a system of reconnaissance patrols instituted as a precaution against a Dominican surprise attack.

Gunfire was heard twice during the early morning hours — when unidentified gunmen in a speeding car fired on a soldier posted near the Mexican Embassy and in an unexplained burst of firing near the Tropical Brewery.

No one is known to have been injured in either case.

Unofficial reports said police made an extensive search of the suburban Cojimar area, where Castro lives, apparently looking for persons implicated in the anti government plot reported here last night.

Eight Persons Arrested

Eight alleged plotters—six soldiers and two civilians — were arrested Thursday night. Investigators were questioning them Saturday.

Castro made it clear, however, that Cuba will accept no form of intervention by the inter-American organization.

"Cuba will never accept anything that lessens its sovereignty and dignity in the slightest degree," he said. "It should be understood that Cuba will not accept the intervention of any organization in its affairs."

Storm Radar Unit Set Up

MIAMI (UPI) — The National Hurricane center Friday put into operation the first of 31 long-range weather search radar units that can give at least six hours of warning on any hurricane.

The unit can spot hurricanes more than 200 miles away, and is delicate enough to pick up a tornado's narrow funnel cloud.

The bureau said similar units will be set up from New England to Texas along the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico coasts, and others will be installed to cover "Tornado Alley" in the central states.

Chief Miami forecaster Gordon E. Dunn said the equipment, built to bureau specifications by Raytheon Manufacturing Co. "is the finest weather radar yet developed."

"The radar alone should provide at least six hours warning of any hurricane," Dunn said, "and in conjunction with other detection and tracking devices should improve the 24-hour forecasting."

Palace Not Safe

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — Communist Russia has decided that a king's palace is not a fit place for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to live. Foreign ministry sources said Russian security officials have turned thumbs down on King Olav's offer to let Khrushchev use his summer palace when the Premier visits here next month.

His physical troubles include a faltering heart, weakened by a heart attack 10 years ago and a slight failure Wednesday night, asthma, over exertion, shortness of breath, a possible stroke and nervous breakdown. But the 63-year-old governor, determined to bid for a fourth term as chief executive, awakened at 5 a.m. Friday, issued telephone orders to his political aides and prepared to return in style to the skyscraper capitol built by his assassinated brother, Huey (Kingfish) Long.

He invited a few close friends and associates to dinner at the executive mansion Friday night following his return. He sought up-to-the minute medical advice from his physicians. An electrocardiograph was wheeled into the suite, ostensibly for readings. He also ordered a new tailored wardrobe.

A number of Long's friends also apparently attempted to persuade the fiery political leader to give up his stump tour plans, but to no avail. He planned four speeches and a plane trip to attend the finals of a bathing beauty contest.

Police Department Clerk Arrested

NEW YORK (UPI) — A woman employee in the police department's division of licenses was suspended Friday for driving without a license.

Officials said Mrs. Dorothy T. Whitfield, 39, a clerk in the department, also was charged with driving while intoxicated and failing to give the right of the way to another vehicle, which she rammed in the rear.

The other vehicle was a police car.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — Sir Hugh Foot, British governor of Cyprus, announced Thursday that for an extended Fourth of July weekend, they reopen Monday morning.

Nation Heads For Holiday Weekend Under New Flag, Threat Of Death

By United Press International The nation headed Friday night into a Fourth of July weekend under a new flag and the threat of a record-breaking 350 traffic deaths.

The 183rd anniversary of the nation's independence was the signal to break out a 49-star spangled banner over the Capitol at Washington and Fort McHenry, Md., at a minute past midnight Saturday.

The new flag, with Alaska's star added but lacking Hawaii's, will be hoisted elsewhere throughout the nation after daybreak. But as the nation celebrated this special glorious fourth, the first of an estimated national weekend traffic load of 45 million cars began moving. The weather was good and the highway track was fast. Safety experts feared this combination would mean the most murderous two-day independence day holiday on the books.

The National Safety Council issued the prediction of 350 traffic deaths between 6 p.m. local time Friday and midnight Sunday, barring a life-saving slowdown on the roads.

If traffic smashups exceed the experts' worst fears, the toll could pass the 375 deaths counted by United Press International over last year's three-day July 4th weekend. It might even approach the all-time high for a two-day holiday—the 392 persons who died during the 1954 Christmas weekend.

The weatherman's good news had a dark meaning for policemen and traffic experts. The prediction from the U. S. weather bureau was for pleasant, summer weather in most of the nation, except for scattered showers and thunderstorms in the Rocky Mountains, plains and Gulf states, and a possibility of rain from the Mid-Mississippi Valley into New England Sunday.

Good driving conditions such as these, the experts have warned, are often an invitation to motorists to step on the gas.

Fireworks, often discounted as a modern Independence Day menace, also played a part in the early death figures. Just as the National Fire Protection Association announced there might not be a single fireworks casualty this year, a fireworks stand blew up at Kalispell, Mont., and two children died.

Detroit Mayor Won't Greet Frol Kozlov

DETROIT (UPI) — State Department or no State Department, the mayor of Detroit won't shake hands with Russia's top deputy premier when he arrives here next week—and in fact, would rather the Soviet official stayed away from the motor city.

Mayor Louis C. Miriani made his attitude crystal clear Friday in an exchange of telegrams with top officials of the United States State Department who had asked him to greet Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov next Tuesday.

"I believe his trip is not in the public interest," said Miriani in telegrams to both Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Special Assistant Secretary William S. B. Lacey. "Inasmuch as Mr. Kozlov is not coming to Detroit in an official capacity, it would be well to advise him not to come," Miriani said in his wire to Lacey.

Lacey had sent a routine telegram to Miriani notifying him of the Russian official's pending visit to Detroit and asking him to extend the courtesy of greeting him. Miriani brushed aside the Lacey request in a 50-word reply winding up with the suggestion that State Department advise Kozlov not to come.

Friday, Secretary of State Herter sent a telegram urging Miriani to reconsider, and pointing out that Kozlov already had been greeted by President Eisenhower Vice-President Nixon and Herter himself, and had been entertained by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He asked again that Miriani greet Kozlov "as a gesture in the national interest."

Miriani shot back a 240-word reply reiterating his stand that Kozlov's visit was "not in the public interest" and that he would not greet him.

Talks Canceled

GENEVA (AP) — The regular session of the three-power conference on a nuclear test ban was canceled Friday to allow U.S., British and Soviet scientists to discuss differences on methods of detecting high-altitude blasts.

Storm Radar Unit Set Up

MIAMI (UPI) — The National Hurricane center Friday put into operation the first of 31 long-range weather search radar units that can give at least six hours of warning on any hurricane.

The unit can spot hurricanes more than 200 miles away, and is delicate enough to pick up a tornado's narrow funnel cloud.

The bureau said similar units will be set up from New England to Texas along the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico coasts, and others will be installed to cover "Tornado Alley" in the central states.

Chief Miami forecaster Gordon E. Dunn said the equipment, built to bureau specifications by Raytheon Manufacturing Co. "is the finest weather radar yet developed."

"The radar alone should provide at least six hours warning of any hurricane," Dunn said, "and in conjunction with other detection and tracking devices should improve the 24-hour forecasting."

In some cities, this would be a member for generations. In Alaska, Fourth of July to remember for generations. In Alaska, it was the first Independence Day celebrated as a state. Chicago prepared for a gala weekend, with 15 Naval warships docked at Navy pier, the opening of an International Trade Fair, and Queen Elizabeth II due Monday on the only U.S. stop of her St. Lawrence Seaway tour.

Middlesboro, Ky., was likewise a town on a holiday. The city was decked out in bunting for the formal opening of the Cumberland Gap National Historical Park. Vice-President Richard M. Nixon was in town for the festivities Friday and Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton was to dedicate the nation's largest historical park Saturday.

Says Cubans Don't Want Intervention

Warplanes Drone Overhead During TV Appearance

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro, speaking while warplanes droned overhead and gunfire cracked in the pre-dawn darkness, Friday defied U.S. proposals for peace in the Caribbean.

In an early-morning TV appearance, Castro declared that Cuba will not consent to intervention in its affairs by the organization of American States, the agency which President Eisenhower had said should undertake the task of preventing war between this country and the Dominican Republic.

He linked the Dominican charge that Cuba and Venezuela are preparing a new invasion of the Dominican Republic with such other recent events as the "treacherous desertion" of Cuban air force chief Pedro Diaz Laiz.

The premier said he will mass half a million peasants "with their machetes" here on July 26, the name-day of his rebel movement, to "show that neither treason nor threats frighten us."

Tension Heightens

As Castro spoke, the drone of aircraft engines over Camp Liberty and the Havana waterfront heightened tension in the Cuban Capital.

The night-long air activity, officially described as "training flights," was regarded by observers here as a system of reconnaissance patrols instituted as a precaution against a Dominican surprise attack.

Gunfire was heard twice during the early morning hours — when unidentified gunmen in a speeding car fired on a soldier posted near the Mexican Embassy and in an unexplained burst of firing near the Tropical Brewery.

No one is known to have been injured in either case.

Unofficial reports said police made an extensive search of the suburban Colimar area, where Castro lives, apparently looking for persons implicated in the anti government plot reported here last night.

Eight Persons Arrested

Eight alleged plotters—six soldiers and two civilians — were arrested Thursday night. Investigators were questioning them Saturday.

Castro made it clear, however, that Cuba will accept no form of intervention by the inter-American organization.

"Cuba will never accept anything that lessens its sovereignty and dignity in the slightest degree," he said. "It should be understood that Cuba will not accept the intervention of any organization in its affairs."

'Blood Baths' In Prospect For Tibet Uprising

TOKYO (UPI)—The grim prospect of "peoples court" blood baths for rebellious Tibet was raised by Communist China Friday.

The New China News Agency broadcast a report on the second plenary session of the Preparatory Committee for the Tibet autonomous region in which the Communists disclosed a sweeping land reform program for Tibet which would take land even from the monasteries.

The possibility of "peoples courts," the kind that swept Communist China after the Reds took over, was raised by the Panchen Lama, the Tibetan chosen by Communist China to bring his country to heel.

The Panchen Lama, who took over control of Tibet following the flight of the Dalai Lama to India during the spring rebellion, called for the protection of "the safety and happiness of the masses."

"If those who are most hated by the people and whose lives are demanded by them admit their mistakes and decide to turn over a new leaf," he said, "we may persuade the masses to spare them."

After the Communists took over China, suspects were denounced in "peoples courts" that consisted of huge mobs and convicted by shouted condemnation of the crowd, without real trial and without defense. They were often executed on the spot.

Tens of thousands died in these legalized lynchings before the Communists decided they had consolidated their power enough to discard the "courts."

Just as it happened to China, the chief target of the Communists seeking to complete the takeover of Tibet appeared Friday to be landlords and other so-called "reactionaries."

The Panchen Lama indicated reform would not be limited to land, but would extend to the serf system that has been used to till it.

He said it would "not be beneficial to religion if serfs of the aristocratic feudal government are emancipated while the serfs of the lamaseries remain in bondage."

The report of the committee meeting, which began June 28, also contained the Panchen Lama's statement that "Tibet is an integral part of the great motherland (China)."

Dominican Republic Requests OAS Action

49-Star Flag Raised Over U.S. Tokyo Embassy

TOKYO (UPI)—America's new 49-star flag was raised officially Saturday over the U.S. Embassy here.

The new flag was raised at the crack of dawn (3:29 p.m. e.d.t. Friday) in Tokyo, hours before it would fly over Washington or Juneau, the capital of America's 49th state.

Japan is 13 hours ahead of Daylight Saving Time in Washington and 18 hours ahead of Standard Time in the Alaskan capital.

The flag was hoisted to the top of the mast over the U.S. Embassy building here by Marine F-Sgt. Francis X. Dorhan of Cambridge, Mass., and Cpl. John A. Prunty of Pittsburgh, Pa. Drohan is Marine in charge of the U.S. Embassy security guard.

Roman Court Delays Decision In Custody Case

ROME (UPI)—The tangled martial status of Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini caused a Rome court Friday to delay at least until next fall its decision in the fight for custody of their three children.

Judge Alberto Virgilio set Oct. 14 as the date of the next hearing in the custody case to permit study of the court of appeals ruling Thursday revoking the year-old annulment of the Bergman-Rossellini marriage.

Rossellini's lawyer, Mario Cavaleri, had asked for a delay because of the decision that the movie actress and the director were still man and wife even though Miss Bergman has married Swedish impresario Lars Schmidt. Judge Virgilio admitted the ruling "could be relevant."

The court of appeals said both parties must secure a Swedish court ruling on the validity of Miss Bergman's divorce from her first husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, before the annulment suit could be retired.

French and Italian courts in temporary rulings earlier this year granted custody of the three children, Robertino, 10, and twins Isabella and Ingrid, 7, to Miss Bergman. Rossellini was given the right to have the children with him on weekends and part of the summer.

Newsvendors Plan To Strike

Four Killed In Car-Truck Crash In Va.

STEPHENS CITY, Va. (AP)—A south-bound automobile drifted across two of the three lanes of U.S. 11 in pre-dawn darkness Friday and collided with a tractor-trailer. Three members of a West Virginia family and a friend in the car were killed.

Victims of the crash just north of this northern Virginia town were Robert D. Cole, 19, driver of the car; his sister, Linda Cole, 14; and their mother, Mrs. Gladys Blanche Cole, 53, all of Princeton, W. Va., and James E. Kirk, 20, of McComas, W. Va.

The four were returning to their West Virginia homes after a visit in Lansdale, Pa. with Mrs. Gerald Nyce, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Cole.

State Trooper J. H. Smith Jr. said the tractor-trailer, loaded with movie film, was headed north about eight miles south of Winchester when the car drifted across the highway. He said the truck struck the right side of the auto.

The force of the collision ignited the movie film and flames leaped about 40 feet into the air. Smith said none of the dead was burned.

Howard L. Althizer of Salem, Va., driver of the truck, suffered head injuries and a burned arm before implementing a 1959 act. Both the car and the trailer were demolished. The movie film was being taken from Salem to Washington, D.C.

Smith said he could not determine what caused the car to drift across the straight stretch of highway. Visibility, he said, was good.

Advises Japan

MOSCOW (UPI)—Pravda advised Japan Friday not to "risk a bad end" by renewing its defense ties with the United States. The Communist party newspaper charged that Japanese prime minister Nobusuke Kishi was "heatedly advocating further arming of the country" in a campaign to block to switch to a neutral policy.

Statue Found Of Ancient Sex Goddess

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—Archaeologists have unearthed part of a statue of Astarte, the ancient goddess of sex and fertility, in a tomb some 4,700 years old, the Jordan Department of Antiquities announced Friday.

The "veiled head type of Astarte was discovered in a tomb dated about 2,800 B.C., along with pottery, iron dishes, jugs, bracelets, anklets, beads, incense burners, painted oil flasks and a bronze-handled mirror."

The tomb was discovered in Amman, southeast of the modern Philadelphia Hotel and near the ruins of a Roman amphitheater.

Patent Tonging To Be Confined

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Patent tonging for oysters in Anne Arundel County will be confined to Chesapeake Bay waters on advice of the county's watermen.

A majority of them attending a public hearing Thursday night voted to permit use of the newly authorized mechanical tongs in the bay and keep river oysters restricted to hand tonging.

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission sought their advice before implementing a 1959 act which authorizes patent tonging in county waters but leaves it to the TFC to set the areas where such equipment can be used.

The five-man commission, which took office June 1, met with the Anne Arundel watermen in keeping with its announced policy to sound local views on regulations.

Commission Chairman H.C. Byrd said the commission was willing to go along with their wishes in the matter. The watermen voted 21 to 4 to restrict patent tonging to the bay.

Fireworks, Parades On Today's Agenda

By The Associated Press
Fireworks, parades, flag raising and just plain loafing occupied Marylanders as the Fourth of July weekend got under way.

Thousands boarded trains, planes, buses and the family car a day early and headed for the seashore and mountains. Many had Friday off because the Fourth falls on a Saturday.

The outlook was for fair, dry and pleasant weather with highest readings in the 80s, except in the 70s in the mountains.

A highlight of the festivities was the first official raising of a new 49-star flag at Fort McHenry in Baltimore.

After a reenactment of the 1814 British bombardment of the old fort, rockets were fired and under the red glare, the new star-spangled banner was hoisted. It was atop a reproduction of the 87-foot staff from which the flag flew that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner."

Principal speaker at the flag-raising ceremony was Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, representing President Eisenhower. Gov. Tawes also spoke briefly.

Other flags, new and old, will fly in dozens of parades throughout the cities and villages throughout Maryland Saturday.

On a less festive note, more than 500 State Police and scores of county and city police conducted a round-the-clock vigil on the state's highways in an effort to hold down the death toll.

As Marylanders began thronging the highways, the state's 1959 highway death toll stood at 250 compared with 260 at this time last year.

The official count of holiday accidental deaths began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Snark Logs Another Successful Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Snark intercontinental guided missile successfully completed its third straight 2,000-mile round trip flight over the Atlantic Ocean Thursday.

The 69-foot rocket was guided from the ground as it sped 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range, then turned around and came back.

It skidded to a halt on the cape landing strip with the aid of a parachute that popped out of its tail. The flight took 4½ hours.

Arms Embargo On

LONDON (UPI)—A foreign office spokesman said Friday that Britain has applied a virtual embargo on arms exports to the Dominican Republic because of the tension in the Caribbean area. The spokesman said there was little chance that arms exported to a third party might be diverted to the Dominican Republic.

Commie Police Fire On Crowd, Two Are Killed

TRIVANDRUM, India (UPI)—Police in Communist-ruled Kerala state fired into a defiant anti-Communist crowd Friday, killing two persons.

One of the victims was a pregnant woman. Five others were injured in the flareup of violence at the Cheriathura coastal area near Trivandrum, the capital of the Southern Indian state.

Fourteen persons, all of them Roman Catholics, have been killed in street rioting and demonstrations since anti-Communist agitation began early last month to try to drive out the Communist state regime. The trigger to the outburst was a new Red law giving the state more control over schools, most of which are privately operated in this heavily Christian state.

Opposition sources charged the police Friday opened fire without provocation in an attempt to terrorize the people.

The police said the crowd defied orders to disperse and hurled stones at them before they opened fire.

Witnesses said there was no sign of an attack by the crowd. They said the police began firing guns and simultaneously charged the crowd with clubs.

A 30-year-old woman, pregnant, and holding a child in her arms was slain as she stood in a courtyard. Another person, shot in the street, died later at a hospital.

Police chased demonstrators along the shore. Bloodstains were seen later on the sand.

Lengthy Cold War Is Prospect

HAMILTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) said Friday the cold war "is unlikely to end in our lifetime."

He said "Americans should not build themselves up to inevitable let-downs by seizing hopefully on every little sign of Russian softening as an indication that maybe all will be well in the world by tomorrow afternoon."

Keating, speaking at the final session of the 11th annual Colgate Foreign Policy Conference, said the Communists are involved in the "most massive offensive in the history of the cold war."

He pointed to the failure of the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva to make any notable progress as "the greatest single effort that international Communism has yet made against us."

Keating said the Berlin crisis, the overthrow of King Faisal II of Iraq and the Formosa straits action were part of a pattern which showed the Communists to be stepping up their offensive.

He said he was "tremendously gratified by the bipartisan nature of the support which Secretary of State Christian Herter has been accorded in these early months of his difficult task."

Check Is Sent Historic Project

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Historic Annapolis Inc. has received a $728 check from the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage toward restoration of the Slicer-Shiplap house, a 1720 dwelling which the society purchased last year.

The project is an initial step in a restoration of the Annapolis waterfront area to its Colonial appearance.

Plan Meeting

LONDON (AP)—Japan's Premier Nobusuke Kishi will have two meetings with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and one with Sir Winston Churchill on his four-day mid-July visit to Britain.

British Minister Seeking To Avert Printing Strike

LONDON (UPI)—British Labor Minister Ian MacLeod Friday announced it would not capitalize on called printing employers and the "misfortunes of others" by unions to joint peace talks in a publishing more copies than usual final government bid to head off the Communist "Daily Worker" spreading strike that threatens to shut down the big, national newspapers this weekend.

Ministry sources said there was a "flicker of hope" that the talks—expected to be held at the ministry Saturday—might be successful.

The strike by 150,000 workers in the printing trades and a parallel dispute in the printers' ink industry threatens to stop the presses of London's big nationally-circulated papers by Monday. The quarrel hinges in union demands for a 40-hour week and 10 percent wage increases. All provincial papers have been closed by the strike.

Informed sources said the employers were willing to boost pay and cut work hours only if the printers accepted 22 conditions they had laid down for streamlining the industry.

They were expected only to air the employers' latest views on the 22 conditions and try to settle what powers an independent "referee" for the dispute should have. Then the "referee" must be chosen.

All this added up to complicated hours, perhaps days of negotiations, as publishers faced the prospect of closing after their weekend editions.

Most of the papers said they had only two or three days' ink supplies left. Only the "Manchester Guardian" was expected to print.

Meanwhile, the chairman Edward Martel of the "peoples league of the defense of freedom," a rightist political group, announced a crew of printers and journalists was preparing to publish a new newspaper, "The New Daily" if the ink dispute closes the national papers.

Four Killed In Car-Truck Crash In Va.

STEPHENS CITY, Va. (AP)—A south-bound automobile drifted across two of the three lanes of U.S. 11 in pre-dawn darkness Friday and collided with a tractor-trailer. Three members of a West Virginia family and a friend in the car were killed.

Victims of the crash just north of this northern Virginia town were Robert D. Cole, 19, driver of the car; his sister, Linda Cole, 14; and their mother, Mrs. Gladys Blanche Cole, 33, all of Princeton, W. Va., and James E. Kirk, 20, of McComas, W. Va.

The four were returning to their West Virginia homes after a visit in Lansdale, Pa. with Mrs. Gerald Nyce, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Cole.

State Trooper J. H. Smith Jr. said the tractor-trailer, loaded with movie film, was headed north about eight miles south of Winchester when the car drifted across the highway. He said the truck struck the right side of the auto.

The force of the collision ignited the movie film and flames leaped about 40 feet into the air. Smith said none of the dead was burned.

Howard L. Althizer of Salem, Va., driver of the truck, suffered head injuries and a burned arm. Both the car and the trailer were demolished. The movie film was being taken from Salem to Washington, D.C.

Smith said he could not determine what caused the car to drift across the straight stretch of highway. Visibility, he said, was good.

Statue Found Of Ancient Sex Goddess

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—Archaeologists have unearthed part of a statue of Astarte, the ancient goddess of sex and fertility, in a tomb some 4,700 years old, the Jordan Department of Antiquities announced Friday.

The "veiled head type of Astarte" was discovered in a tomb dated about 2,800 B.C., along with pottery, iron dishes, jugs, bracelets, anklets, beads, incense burners, painted oil flasks and a bronze-handled mirror.

The tomb was discovered in Amman, southeast of the modern Philadelphia Hotel and near the ruins of a Roman amphitheater.

Patent Tonging To Be Confined

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Patent tonging for oysters in Anne Arundel County will be confined to Chesapeake Bay waters on advice of the county's watermen.

A majority of them attending a public hearing Thursday night voted to permit use of the newly authorized mechanical tongs in the bay and keep river oysters restricted to hand tonging.

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission sought their advice before implementing a 1959 act which authorizes patent tonging in county waters but leaves it to the watermen to set the areas where such equipment can be used.

The five-man commission, which took office June 1, met with the Anne Arundel watermen in keeping with its announced policy to sound local views on regulations.

Commission Chairman H.C. Byrd said the commission was willing to go along with their wishes in the matter. The watermen voted 21 to 4 to restrict patent tonging to the bay.

Fireworks, Parades On Today's Agenda

By The Associated Press
Fireworks, parades, flag raising and just plain loafing occupied Marylanders as the Fourth of July weekend got under way.

Thousands boarded trains, planes, buses and the family car a day early and headed for the seashore and mountains. Many had Friday off because the Fourth falls on a Saturday.

The outlook was for fair, dry and pleasant weather with highest readings in the 80s, except in the 70s in the mountains.

A highlight of the festivities was the first official raising of a new 49-star flag at Fort McHenry in Baltimore.

After a reenactment of the 1814 British bombardment of the old fort, rockets were fired and under the red glare, the new star-spangled banner was hoisted. It was atop a reproduction of the 87-foot staff from which the flag flew that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner."

Principal speaker at the flag-raising ceremony was Secretary of Interior Fred Seaton, representing President Eisenhower. Gov. Taves also spoke briefly.

Other flags, new and old, will fly in dozens of parades through the cities and villages throughout Maryland Saturday.

On a less festive note, more than 500 State Police and scores of county and city police conducted a round-the-clock vigil on the state's highways in an effort to hold down the death toll.

As Marylanders began thronging the highways, the state's 1959 highway death toll stood at 250 compared with 260 at this time last year.

The official count of holiday accidental deaths began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Snark Logs Another Successful Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Snark intercontinental guided missile successfully completed its third straight 2,000-mile round trip flight over the Atlantic Ocean Thursday.

The 69-foot rocket was guided from the ground as it sped 1,000 miles down the Atlantic missile range, then turned around and came back.

It skidded to a halt on the cape landing strip with the aid of a parachute that popped out of its tail. The flight took 4½ hours.

Arms Embargo On

LONDON (UPI)—A foreign office spokesman said Friday that Britain has applied a virtual embargo on arms exports to the Dominican Republic because of the tension in the Caribbean area. The spokesman said there was little chance that arms exported to a third party might be diverted to the Dominican Republic.

Commie Police Fire On Crowd, Two Are Killed

TRIVANDRUM, India (UPI)—Police in Communist-ruled Kerala state fired into a defiant anti-Communist crowd Friday, killing two persons.

One of the victims was a pregnant woman. Five others were injured in the flareup of violence at the Cheriathura coastal area near Trivandrum, the capital of the Southern Indian state.

Fourteen persons, all of them Roman Catholics, have been killed in street rioting and demonstrations since anti-Communist agitation began early last month to try to drive out the Communist state regime. The trigger to the outburst was a new Red law giving the state more control over schools, most of which are privately operated in this heavily Christian state.

Opposition sources charged the police Friday opened fire without provocation in an attempt to terrorize the people.

The police said the crowd defied orders to disperse and hurled stones at them before they opened fire.

Witnesses said there was no sign of an attack by the crowd. They said the police began firing guns and simultaneously charged the crowd with clubs.

A 30-year-old woman, pregnant, and holding a child in her arms was slain as she stood in a courtyard. Another person, shot in the street, died later at a hospital.

Police chased demonstrators along the shore. Bloodstains were seen later on the sand.

Lengthy Cold War Is Prospect

HAMILTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) said Friday the cold war "is unlikely to end in our lifetime."

He said "Americans should not build themselves up to inevitable let-downs by seizing hopefully on every little sign of Russian softening as an indication that maybe all will be well in the world by tomorrow afternoon."

Keating, speaking at the final session of the 11th annual Colgate Foreign Policy Conference, said the Communists are involved in the "most massive offensive in the history of the cold war."

He pointed to the failure of the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva to make any notable progress as "the greatest single effort that international Communism has yet made against us."

Keating said the Berlin crisis, the overthrow of King Faisal II of Iraq and the Formosa straits action were part of a pattern which showed the Communists to be stepping up their offensive.

He said he was "tremendously gratified by the bipartisan nature of the support which Secretary of State Christian Herter has been accorded in these early months of his difficult task."

Check Is Sent Historic Project

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Historic Annapolis Inc. has received a $728 check from the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage toward restoration of the Slicer-Shiplap house, a 1720 dwelling which the society purchased last year.

The project is an initial step in a restoration of the Annapolis waterfront area to its Colonial appearance.

Plan Meeting

LONDON (AP)—Japan's Premier Nobusuke Kishi will have two meetings with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and one with Sir Winston Churchill on his four-day mid-July visit to Britain.

British Minister Seeking To Avert Printing Strike

LONDON (UPI)—British Labor Minister Ian MacLeod Friday announced it would not capitalize on called printing employers and the "misfortunes of others" by unions to joint peace talks in a publishing more copies than usual final government bid to head off the Communist "Daily Worker" spreading strike that threatens to shut down the big, national newspapers this weekend.

Ministry sources said there was a "flicker of hope" that the talks—expected to be held at the ministry Saturday—might be successful.

The strike by 150,000 workers in the printing trades and a parallel dispute in the printers' ink industry threatens to stop the presses of London's big nationally-circulated papers by Monday. The quarrel hinges in union demands for a 40-hour week and 10 per cent wage increases. All provincial papers have been closed by the strike.

Informed sources said the employers were willing to boost pay and cut work hours only if the printers accepted 22 conditions they had laid down for streamlining the industry.

They were expected only to air the employers' latest views on the 22 conditions and try to settle what powers an independent "referee" for the dispute should have. Then the "referee" must be chosen.

All this added up to complicated hours, perhaps days of negotiations, as publishers faced the prospect of closing after their weekend editions.

Most of the papers said they had only two or three days' ink supplies left. Only the "Manches-

Meanwhile, the chairman Edward Martel of the "peoples league of the defense of freedom," a rightist political group, announced a crew of printers and journalists was preparing to publish a new newspaper, "The New Daily" if the ink dispute closes the national papers.

There were only 28 Stars in Old Glory When Rosenbaum's was founded in 1848

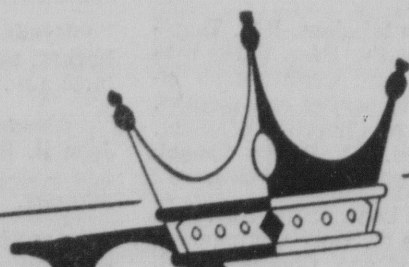

Old Glory has a new look! With the admission of Alaska to statehood our official flag now has 49 stars. Back in 1848 when Rosenbaum's was founded, there were only 28 stars in Old Glory.

Having served the Tri-States for 110 years, Rosenbaum's has witnessed many historical events. The trail-blazing pioneers, with the long lines of wagons, moving through Cumberland to the unmapped frontier that stretched from "the wild Missouri" to the Pacific . . . the men of Cumberland marching off to the War with Mexico in 1848 . . . the War Between the States with Cumberland a vital strategic point on the rail supply line from the West!

The passing parade rolled on . . . new stars were added to the flag . . . other events were recorded. The men of Cumberland rallying to avenge the Maine and to free Cuba . . . in 1918 they followed Pershing to victory on the poppy fields of France . . . then distinguished themselves on the far-flung battlefields of World War II.

Now, on this July 4, the 21st star is added to the flag since 1848. And through the years, as our Nation prospered and grew, so did Rosenbaum's. We look forward to July 4, 1960 when the 50th star, for Hawaii, will be added to the field of blue.

It is with pride, humility and gratitude that we pause on this July 4th to pay homage to the men and women who worked, toiled, fought and died "that this Nation under God" could fulfill its divine destiny. Everything they did is an integral part of Old Glory . . . "Long May She Wave."

Poise Posers

As every successful model knows, poise is an invaluable asset.

Once acquired, an assured manner creates the illusion of tranquil beauty. It's worth all the effort it takes to present a self-confident picture of yourself to the world. Like a jig-saw puzzle, your poise is made up of bits and pieces that must be fitted together before the finished picture emerges.

An excellent place to begin your self-training in poise is with your hands, because so many women betray their lack of ease by the fluttery, uncertain or awkward motions of their hands. Actually, it is possible to give an impression of poise, just by the hands alone if they have graceful and charming ways.

Here are three of the Powers Girls' favorite hand positions for expressing poise. If you will practice them every day for two weeks in front of your mirror, they will become a completely natural part of a beautifully composed picture of you.

First, sit so that your hips are well back in your chair with your thighs arranged at an angle across it. Then, try these hand positions in quick succession (so you won't stiffen up):

1. Bring one arm across your body so that your hand rests palm down on your thigh with the fingers relaxed. Now grasp this arm very lightly just above the wrist with the other hand so the thumb is tucked under the arm and the forefinger points toward the elbow.

2. Turn the hand that is resting in your lap palm up, then, place the other hand in it palm down. Arrange the hands so the thumbs point in the same direction.

3. Place one hand palm up and well back in your lap. Place the wrist of the other hand on the arm of the chair letting the hand fall relaxed over the side.

While you're practicing, keep this Powers Girl axiom in mind: The woman who acts like a beauty is a beauty!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Rededication
To Independence

Many were reluctant. Some were sure there was a better way. All knew they were moving into the shadow of the gallows. But there was no fear among them when they voted "That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, Free and Independent States."

Some eyes were bright with unshed tears when the fateful words of dissolution of ancient bonds fell on straining ears. They were embarking on a voyage into uncharted seas. They could not then foresee its glories, but they could be sure of its perils and it was not lightly that in support of their Declaration they pledged "our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

It was to be seven years before affirmation became fact, seven hard years of suffering and death, seven years of courage and incredible achievement.

Americans were to learn, generation after generation, that freedom and independence are neither easily achieved nor preserved without pain and sacrifice.

For 183 years it has been necessary for Americans to fight and to die to give substance to what seemed at the time to be the vague ideal of representative government, with liberty and freedom for all.

The earlier Americans, who fought at Lexington and Bunker Hill, at Saratoga, Trenton and Valley Forge, won their war. They won their independence and with it their rights as free men.

They founded a nation that has become the strongest and freest in the world. But at crises in the course of history it has been necessary to renew this strength, to defend this freedom, always at the price of the blood of men.

If new crises arise in the future, Americans will not be found lacking in what it takes to meet the situation.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
What Is The News?

I was talking to an editor the other day about the news. What is news? Well, when we were young we were told that it is news when a man bites a dog. In a word, news is the exceptional, the startling, the surprising, the unusual. It used to be taught in the schools of journalism that news was when, where, why, who, what, in whatever order they could be arranged.

But news, like everything else, has really become something very different. The usual may be even more important than the startling. The pace of nations has grown slower because all peoples are in a process of marking time before an impending great change. In an historical transitional period such as the present one, words may count for as much as deeds. Many years ago, an editor complained to me that I mentioned Russia too often, that I had become repetitious on the subject, but today it is Russia to which we respond as a sensory nerve does to a stimulus. The President rushes to New York unexpectedly to open a Russian fair.

We are in a period similar to that which gripped the world from 44 B.C. to 325 A.D. during which the Roman Empire changed its character. Christianity appeared and paved the way for the world we live in today. We are in a period somewhat like the aftermath of the Congress of Vienna (1815) in some of its aspects.

Great empires have disappeared; new states have proliferated until there are perhaps as many as 100 of them; 82 are members of the United Nations. Russia and Red China, both of which were backward only a few decades ago, have emerged to primary status. Germany which was defeated in two major wars and which is even now divided into two, is, in one aspect, West Germany, the most progressive nation on the continent of Europe, and the Prime Minister of Israel, David Ben-Gurion, threatens to resign if his nation is not permitted to sell West Germany munitions of war.

If all this sounds topsy-turvy, there is more that is even more confusing.

For instance, the United States, which acted as caretaker for the Western world for a period of 15 years, providing billions of dollars of credit and goods to nations, finds itself in danger of losing its gold reserve and the primary position for its currency. London is again the money market of the world, with Zurich, Amsterdam, and Montevideo (mark that one) not far behind. Whereas gold is still rigidly controlled by the government of the United States, it is in a free market in most of Europe. Besides, Europe has organized into three economic unions—the Common Market, the Free Market, and the Soviet bloc—which together absorb the entire continent, some of Asia, and most of Africa, and make it increasingly difficult for the United States to engage in exports. Many American companies adjust to this change by exporting capital and manufacturing within those blocs that permit them to. But what becomes of American labor?

What is news today?

News has more to do with underlying forces than with events. Long ago, some of us called attention to the proletarian movements in Latin American countries. Those movements were then mostly words. They were the various conspiracies of Vicente Lombardo Toledano, operating out of Mexico City. These words sounded unimportant. In the regular news columns they were rarely reported. But now, these proletarian forces have begun to attempt to take over Latin American countries. In Cuba, they succeeded. In the Dominican Republic, they did not succeed.

However, one would be foolhardy indeed who did not realize that American interests in Latin America, particularly in the strip closest to us, called Central America, are imperilled and that we dare not move to protect ourselves lest we bring on World War III.

What is news?

It consists of movements hidden in conspiratorial groups. It is words that move youth to hysteria. It is the breakdown of social institutions that have been fairly stable for 1,000 years or more. It is a new concept of social relations within the family. It is a revival of religion, in many new forms which appear in many parts of the world.

This is the news of our era—and it is difficult to report, unless one has the reportorial genius of St. Mark.

Supreme Court Frustrates Loyalty Program

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—After eighteen years of operation of the government's loyalty and security programs, those procedures relating to industrial plants where defense work is done now have been frustrated.

The Supreme Court of the United States, by its latest decision this week, has cast doubt on the right of the Congress or the President to assure, through administrative action, the preservation of government secrets in defense plants.

In fact, there is considerable confusion as to what the court actually ruled invalid and what it struck down by implication.

The case concerns an $18,000-a-year engineer whose firm had a government contract on secret projects. He was accused of having, over a period of years, certain associations with Communists and of maintaining "sympathetic associations" with Russian Embassy officials. His employers stood by him and testified that he was loyal. He was nevertheless deprived of his job as a consequence of a formal letter revoking security "clearance," sent by Robert Anderson, now Secretary of the Treasury but then—in April 1953—Secretary of the Navy. A year later, the Secretary of Defense created a new security board, and the defendant was given a hearing and cross-examined extensively, but the sources of the information compiled against him were not revealed to his lawyers. "Clearance" was again denied.

Four of the Justices—Messrs. Black, Douglas, Brennan and Stewart—subscribed to the opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Warren, upholding the defendant. But Justice Harlan, while concurring in the result, criticizes the Warren opinion because "it unnecessarily deals with the very issue it disclaims deciding."

Then, in another opinion, Justices Frankfurter, Harlan and Whitaker say they concur in "the judgment on the ground that it has not been shown that either Congress or the President authorized the procedures whereby petitioner's security clearance was revoked, intimating no views as to the validity of those procedures."

Justice Clark, in his dissenting opinion, however, seems to have no doubt about what the court decided, and he uses language concerning the court's attitude which, if employed by anybody else, would be denounced by various critics in the so-called "liberal" school of thought as "defiant" or as "undermining confidence in the Supreme Court."

In the dissenting opinion, Justice Clark—himself a former Attorney General—says that to him the case is "clear and simple" in that the government refused to give the defendant "further access to certain government military information which has been classified 'secret.'" He adds:

"Surely one does not have a constitutional right to have access to the government's military secrets."

The Clark opinion then proceeds to give chapter and verse showing that the security program was, in effect, authorized by the President and was in line with the procedures used in the first employ security program, inaugurated upon the passage of the Hatch Act by Congress in 1939, "in which the right to confrontation (of witnesses) and cross-examination has never been recognized."

The reason, of course, is that the government, and particularly the FBI, must protect its sources of information if, for example, it expects to continue to keep undercover agents at work inside the Communist movement. Justice Clark writes:

"It should be noted, though several cases here have attacked the regulations on this ground, this court has yet to strike them down. I shall not labor the point further than to say that in my opinion the procedures here do comport with that fairness required of administration action

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathart

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's forthcoming trip to Russia is growing greatly in importance as the accomplishments of the Geneva foreign ministers conference fade into nothingness.

There are some indications that the Russian leaders now look to Nixon's visit as a substitute for a summit meeting. Should the Vice President undertake serious talks with the Soviet leaders, it undoubtedly would be looked upon as a diplomatic exchange at least somewhat above the foreign ministers level.

The prospect presents great opportunities for Nixon in furthering his political aspirations, but there are also great dangers. If Nixon should produce some accommodation with the Communists in easing East-West tensions it would be hailed as a great achievement and enhance his stature in foreign policy matters.

However, an effort culminating in failure would be a serious blow to his prestige and his Presidential ambitions.

There is the danger, too, that such two power talks would serve the Russian objective of splitting the Allies. In the past the United States has flatly rejected all Soviet efforts to set up talks which did not include representation by the other Allied powers.

Increasing importance of the Nixon trip already is having one effect. A larger number of American news correspondents are being assigned to cover his travels than had been anticipated originally. As a result, Nixon's Russian trip will be the most completely covered of all his foreign tours.

Tetanus Less Common Today, But Not Extinct

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Lockjaw (tetanus) did not vanish with the horse. Tetanus germs and spores are still widely distributed despite the fact that old-timers found them most often in highly manured soil.

Tetanus was a major problem to physicians up until 50 years ago. The victims died an agonizing death and the people feared the disease in much the same way as cancer is feared today.

In those days most people lived close to horses and other herbivora in whose intestines the germs existed until expelled in the droppings. Once outside the body, the germs are enclosed in a shell in which they hibernate for decades in dirt and soil.

It is not difficult to imagine what happened on the old battlefields. The armies used horses as we use jeeps, tanks, and trucks. The fields were covered with manure and contaminated with tetanus germs. These organisms enter the human body through puncture wounds and open cuts. It was an ideal situation and no wonder more French soldiers died of lockjaw after the battle near Dresden than from wounds.

The tetanus bacillus is dangerous, not because it produces pus or inflammation, but because it generates a powerful toxin that irritates and poisons the nerve centers. This takes place in from 3 to 21 days after the germ enters a contaminated wound.

The chewing muscles go into spasm and the jaws become so firmly clenched the victim is unable to open the mouth. The facial muscles are affected next, followed by the muscles of the trunk and extremities. The bouts of cramping come and go and may be so severe as to almost lift the sufferer off the bed. Sixty per cent of all victims do not survive.

This is the type of disease that is best avoided by immunization. Tetanus toxoid is so effective, no

"Of course," agreed the Londoner blandly. "That's why I threw them in the trash basket."

Herb Stein noted this sign on the windshield of a small foreign sports car: "Please help stamp out tall dogs."

South Carolina States-Righter Helps
Yankee Shipyard Gouge Taxpayers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When a South Carolina States-Righter who preaches economy goes to bat for a Yankee shipyard for the purpose of costing the taxpayers extra money, the taxpayers need to know about it. It illustrates how the American people are dishing out unnecessary dollars, partly due to weak-kneed top brass in the military who want to curry favor with Congressmen.

In this case, Vice Adm. John "Dutch" Will, who has just retired from the Military Sea Transportation Service to become head of American Export Lines which benefited from MSTs, is involved.

Even more involved is Congressman Mendel Rivers, whose heavy drinking while on Congressional junkets abroad has shocked both Americans and Europeans.

You won't find the story in any Congressional committee report or Pentagon press release, but here are the facts regarding a strange operation inside the Navy Department.

The Power Equipment Corporation, chiefly owned by Joe Kelly of Connecticut, made a low bid of $142,860 to repair the USS Randall, which is operated by Admiral Will's Military Sea Transportation fleet. The ship was delivered to the Power Equipment Corporation in Brooklyn for overhaul on March 3. On March 6, three days later, company owner Kelly was clamoring for more money to take care of "extra work."

Pressure Pays Off
G. D. Cross, Brooklyn port engineer for the Military Sea Transportation Service, ruled that the "extras" would have to be rebid. Kelly promptly started applying pressure. He asked a friend in the Pentagon, James P. Goode, to arrange an appointment with Admiral Will. Simultaneously, Kelly was pulling more potent strings.

The Military Sea Transportation Service must answer to the House Merchant Marine Committee and the House Armed Services Committee. High on the list of both committees is Congressman Rivers of South Carolina. Through an intermediary, Kelly arranged for Rivers to call Admiral Will.

"What's all this trouble over extras?" Rivers began his conversation. Then he asked the admiral to see Kelly, even though he does not come from South Carolina.

Kelly got in to see the admiral at 9:30 A. M. on March 10. While Kelly was still seated across from his desk, Will called his commander in Brooklyn, Rear Adm. D. T. Eller, and ordered him to negotiate with Kelly.

This fast action shows what a Congressman who meddles with the taxpayers' money can do when he applies the heat. It also shows how some Pentagon officials listen to any hint from Congress.

As a result, Power Equipment was paid an extra $104,394 for extra work. This was about two-thirds more than the original low bid of $142,860.

However, Kelly and his Power Equipment Company still weren't satisfied. He came back on April 25 with a demand for another $129,000. He had little to back up the claim, chiefly cited vague generalities.

MSTS officers asked for a detailed breakdown. Finally, on May 15, Kelly brought back a revised claim for $166,581.19. This still didn't satisfy the MSTs. Its people below Admiral Will were careful about the taxpayers' money. So, on June 9, Kelly up-

ped his demand still higher — to $173,150.61.

Praise For The Admiral
Kelly cited few specifics to justify all this extra money, chiefly blamed the extra cost upon the MSTs for "delays" and "interference." August Kreuzkamp, president of Power Equipment, admitted to Admiral Will that there had been a strange breakdown in the company's bookkeeping. When MSTs wanted the cost figures, those figures just weren't available.

More important, however, the pressure from Capitol Hill continued. Congressman Rivers, the statuesque South Carolinian, had already telephoned the admiral. Now he introduced a flattering biography of him in the Congressional Record. It read in part:

"'Dutch' Will, as he is admirably known to his friends in the Navy and in maritime circles, is an admiral's admiral."

Congressman Rivers told this to the House of Representatives on June 5, just four days before Kelly's last claim was submitted to the Navy.

When Jack Anderson, my assistant, telephoned Joe Kelly repeatedly to ask why he needed all the extra money, Kelly's office finally alibied that Kelly was "out of the country." Actually, he had been in Washington the day before.

Congressman Rivers, when queried, pretended complete innocence. He admitted telephoning Admiral Will about Kelly, but had no explanation as to why he was helping someone outside his district get extra money from the taxpayers.

Admiral Will admitted quite frankly that he had overruled his subordinates and okayed the first request for $104,394 for extra work on a contract which originally was to cost only $142,860. He said he believed Kelly had deliberately underbid and was trying to make up for it by padding his books with "extras."

At first, the admiral refused to say who had called him from Congress. When Jack Anderson continued to cross-examine him, the admiral finally said: "I'm not going to lie to you. Yes, I got a call from Congressman Rivers."

'Pete' Steps Down

By Leslie Gould

"Pete" Jones is stepping down as chief executive of the $1¼ billion Cities Service Co. But "Pete," christened William Alton, won't be retiring. That's against the nature of the man responsible for making Cities Service one of the giants in an industry of giant corporations.

Jones has done one of the outstanding jobs in private industry. He and the team he has built up over the years turned the company from a public utility, with gas and oil as a sideline, into a major in petroleum, engaged in all fields—crude producing, pipeline refinery and retail service station operations.

The comeback of Cities Service after the 1929 debacle is one of the outstanding management jobs of the last 30 years.

After '29, the company's stock fell to such low esteem that it sold under a dollar in the mid-30's and the shareholders voted a reverse split—one share for 10.

When Jones took over as president and chief executive officer in 1940 after the death of the founder—Henry L. Doherty—the reverse split shares were selling around $4 on the New York Stock Exchange.

An investor who bought 100 Cities Service shares in 1940 at $4 or at a cost of $400, today would have 288 shares worth at current price, around $55, about $15,840.

"Pete" Jones' entire business life, except for early youthful jobs, has been with Cities Service.

He was the youngest of a family of nine, living on an impoverished 40-acre Missouri farm. Like every member of the family, he had to start scratching early. His first job was $2 a week as janitor of the country school he attended. He was 11. He drove a grocery wagon and clerked nights in a bookstore while attending high school in Webb City, Mo. He had time though, to play on the championship basketball team.

He went to Vanderbilt University.

sity for a brief time, paying his way delivering newspapers and laundry. His first full-time job was as a clerk and meter reader for a Doherty company, the Webb City and Cartersville Gas Co. in Missouri.

A correspondence school course won him a job in the auditing department. He became auditor and treasurer of the Webb City company and Empire District Electric in Joplin. He attracted the attention of the New York head office after he had reorganized Empire's accounting system, and won important rate adjustments in appearances at 52 hearings.

New York sent for him in 1921. He was 30 and he became assistant to Doherty's partner, Frank Frueh, who also was first vice president of the company. Two years later he was made a director, and in 1925, chairman of the executive committee, and in 1927 first vice president, next in command to Doherty.

Doherty became ill in the late 1930s, and when he died in 1940, Jones was elected president and chief executive officer, and board chairman in 1953, the post he has just given up. His new job is chairman of the executive committee.

Burl Watson, who is taking over as chairman and chief executive officer, is a long time associate of Jones. He too, has spent his entire business career with Cities Service, starting in 1917 as a cadet engineer after graduating from the University of Alabama.

Jones, who is an around-the-clock worker, has taken time out to serve his country. During the war he directed the construction and operation of the "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" pipelines. He was picked for the job by Harold Ickes, although the two hardly ever were on speaking terms.

"Pete" not only is an excellent shot in the hunting field, he is also an above average card player—poker or bridge.

A Rededication To Independence

Many were reluctant. Some were sure there was a better way. All knew they were moving into the shadow of the gallows. But there was no fear among them when they voted "That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, Free and Independent States."

Some eyes were bright with unshed tears when the fateful words of dissolution of ancient bonds fell on straining ears. They were embarking on a voyage into uncharted seas. They could not then foresee its glories, but they could be sure of its perils and it was not lightly that in support of their Declaration they pledged "our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

It was to be seven years before affirmation became fact, seven hard years of suffering and death, seven years of courage and incredible achievement.

Americans were to learn, generation after generation, that freedom and independence are neither easily achieved nor preserved without pain and sacrifice.

For 183 years it has been necessary for Americans to fight and to die to give substance to what seemed at the time to be the vague ideal of representative government, with liberty and freedom for all.

The earlier Americans, who fought at Lexington and Bunker Hill, at Saratoga, Trenton and Valley Forge, won their war. They won their independence and with it their rights as free men.

They founded a nation that has become the strongest and freest in the world. But at crises in the course of history it has been necessary to renew this strength, to defend this freedom, always at the price of the blood of men.

If new crises arise in the future, Americans will not be found lacking in what it takes to meet the situation.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

What Is The News?

I was talking to an editor the other day about the news. What is news? Well, when we were young we were told that it is news when a man bites a dog. In a word, news is the exceptional, the startling, the surprising, the unusual. It used to be taught in the schools of journalism that news was when, where, why, who, what, in whatever order they could be arranged.

But news, like everything else, has really become something very different. The usual may be even more important than the startling. The pace of nations has grown slower because all peoples are in a process of marking time before an impending great change. In a historical transitional period such as the present one, words may count for as much as deeds. Many years ago, an editor complained to me that I mentioned Russia too often, that I had become repetitious on the subject, but today it is Russia to which we respond as a sensory nerve does to a stimulus. The President rushes to New York unexpectedly to open a Russian fair.

We are in a period similar to that which gripped the world from 44 B.C. to 325 A.D. during which the Roman Empire changed its character. Christianity appeared and paved the way for the world we live in today. We are in a period somewhat like the aftermath of the Congress of Vienna (1815) in some of its aspects.

Great empires have disappeared; new states have proliferated until there are perhaps as many as 100 of them; 82 are members of the United Nations. Russia and Red China, both of which were backward only a few decades ago, have emerged to primary status. Germany which was defeated in two major wars and which is even now divided into two, is, in one aspect, West Germany, the most progressive nation on the continent of Europe, and the Prime Minister of Israel, David Ben-Gurion, threatens to resign if his nation is not permitted to sell West Germany munitions of war.

If all this sounds topsy-turvy, there is more that is even more confusing.

For instance, the United States, which acted as caretaker for the Western world for a period of 15 years, providing billions of dollars of credit and goods to nations, finds itself in danger of losing its gold reserve and the primary position for its currency. London is again the money market of the world, with Zurich, Amsterdam, and Montevideo (mark that one) not far behind. Whereas gold is still rigidly controlled by the government of the United States, it is in a free market in most of Europe. Besides, Europe has organized into three economic unions—the Common Market, the Free Market, and the Soviet bloc—which together absorb the entire continent, some of Asia, and most of Africa, and make it increasingly difficult for the United States to engage in exports. Many American companies adjust to this change by exporting capital and manufacturing within those blocs that permit them to. But what becomes of American labor?

What is news today?
News has more to do with underlying forces than with events. Long ago, some of us called attention to the proletarian movements in Latin American countries. Those movements were then mostly words. They were the various conspiracies of Vicente Lombardo Toledano, operating out of Mexico City. These words sounded unimportant. In the regular news columns they were rarely reported. But now, these proletarian forces have begun to attempt to take over Latin American countries. In Cuba, they succeeded. In the Dominican Republic, they did not succeed.

However, one would be foolhardy indeed who did not realize that American interests in Latin America, particularly in the strip closest to us, called Central America, are imperiled and that we dare not move to protect ourselves lest we bring on World War III.

What is news?
It consists of movements hidden in conspiratorial groups. It is words that move youth to hysteria. It is the breakdown of social institutions that have been fairly stable for 1,000 years or more. It is a new concept of social relations within the family. It is a revival of religion in many new forms which appear in many parts of the world.

This is the news of our era—and it is difficult to report, unless one has the reportorial genius of St. Mark.

Supreme Court Frustrates Loyalty Program

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—After eighteen years of operation of the government's loyalty and security programs, those procedures relating to industrial plants where defense work is done now have been frustrated.

The Supreme Court of the United States, by its latest decision this week, has cast doubt on the right of the Congress or the President to assure, through administrative action, the preservation of government secrets in defense plants.

In fact, there is considerable confusion as to what the court actually ruled invalid and what it struck down by implication.

The case concerns an $18,000-a-year engineer whose firm had a government contract on secret projects. He was accused of having, over a period of years, certain associations with Communists and of maintaining "sympathetic associations" with Russian Embassy officials. His employers stood by him and testified that he was loyal. He was nevertheless deprived of his job as a consequence of a formal letter revoking security "clearance," sent by Robert Anderson, now Secretary of the Treasury but then—in April 1953—Secretary of the Navy. A year later, the Secretary of Defense created a new security board, and the defendant was given a hearing and cross-examined extensively, but the sources of the information compiled against him were not revealed to his lawyers. "Clearance" was again denied.

Four of the Justices—Messrs. Black, Douglas, Brennan and Stewart—subscribed to the opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Warren, upholding the defendant. But Justice Harlan, while concurring in the result, criticizes the Warren opinion because "it unnecessarily deals with the very issue it disclaims deciding."

Then, in another opinion, Justices Frankfurter, Harlan and Whittaker say they concur in "the judgment on the ground that it has not been shown that either Congress or the President authorized the procedures whereby petitioner's security clearance was revoked, intimating no views as to the validity of those procedures."

Justice Clark, in his dissenting opinion, however, seems to have no doubt about what the court decided, and he uses language concerning the court's attitude which, if employed by anybody else, would be denounced by various critics in the so-called "liberal" school of thought as "defiant" or as "undermining confidence in the Supreme Court."

In the dissenting opinion, Justice Clark—himself a former Attorney General—says that to him the case is "clear and simple" in that the government refused to give the defendant "further access to certain government military information which has been classified 'secret.'"

He adds:

"Surely one does not have a constitutional right to have access to the government's military secrets."

The Clark opinion then proceeds to give chapter and verse showing that the security program was, in effect, authorized by the President and was in line with the procedures used in the first employe security program, inaugurated upon the passage of the Hatch Act by Congress in 1939, "in which the right to confrontation (of witnesses) and cross-examination has never been recognized."

The reason, of course, is that the government, and particularly the FBI, must protect its sources of information if, for example, it expects to continue to keep undercover agents at work inside the Communist movement. Justice Clark writes:

"It should be noted, though several cases here have attacked the regulations on this ground, this court has yet to strike them down. I shall not labor the point further than to say that in my opinion the procedures here do comport with that fairness required of administration action in the security field. A score of our cases, as I have cited, support me in this position. Not one is to the contrary. And the action of the court in striking down the program for lack of specific authorization is indeed strange, and hard for me to understand at this critical time of national emergency."

Justice Clark says flatly that the President and the Congress "have granted sufficient authority to Cabinet officers" ever since the attack on Pearl Harbor, that, during the 18 years of operation, there have been frequent reports to the President and Cabinet officers on the subject in which the Chief Executive has acquiesced, and that the security programs themselves as operated have been noted in Congressional hearings time and again when appropriations were being enacted. He writes further:

"How the court can say, despite these facts, that the President has not sufficiently authorized the program is beyond me, unless the court means that it is necessary for the President to write out the industrial security manual in his own hand . . .

"While it certainly is not clear to me, I suppose that the present fastidiousness of the court can be satisfied by the President's incorporating the present industrial security program into a specific executive order or the Congress' placing it on the statute books . .

"Even if the Cabinet officers are given this specific direction, the opinion (of the court) today, by dealing so copiously with the constitutional issues, puts a cloud over both the employe loyalty program and the one here under attack. Neither requires that hearings afford confrontation or cross-examination. While the court disclaims deciding this constitutional question, no one reading the opinion will doubt that the explicit language of its broad sweep speaks in prophecy. Let us hope that the winds may change. If they do not, the present temporary debacle will turn into a rout of our internal security."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

Vice President Richard M. Nixon's forthcoming trip to Russia is getting greatly in importance as the accomplishments of the Geneva foreign ministers conference fade into nothingness.

There are some indications that the Russian leaders now look to Nixon's visit as a substitute for a summit meeting. Should the Vice President undertake serious talks with the Soviet leaders, it undoubtedly would be looked upon as a diplomatic exchange at least somewhat above the foreign ministers level.

The prospect presents great opportunities for Nixon in furthering his political aspirations, but there are also great dangers. If Nixon should produce some accommodation with the Communists in easing East-West tensions it would be hailed as a great achievement and enhance his stature in foreign policy matters.

However, an effort culminating in failure would be a serious blow to his prestige and his Presidential ambitions.

There is the danger, too, that such two power talks would serve the Russian objective of splitting the Allies. In the past the United States has flatly rejected all Soviet efforts to set up talks which did not include representation by the other Allied powers.

Increasing importance of the Nixon trip already is having one effect. A larger number of American news correspondents are being assigned to cover his travels than had been anticipated originally. As a result, Nixon's Russian trip will be the most completely covered of all his foreign tours.

Tetanus Less Common Today, But Not Extinct

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Lockjaw (tetanus) did not vanish with the horse. Tetanus germs and spores are still widely distributed despite the fact that old-timers found them most often in highly manured soil.

Tetanus was a major problem to physicians up until 50 years ago. The victims died an agonizing death and the people feared the disease in much the same way as cancer is feared today.

In those days most people lived close to horses and other herbivora in whose intestines the germs existed until expelled in the droppings. Once outside the body, the germs are enclosed in a shell in which they hibernate for decades in dirt and soil.

It is not difficult to imagine what happened on the old battlefields. The armies used horses as we use jeeps, tanks, and trucks. The fields were covered with manure and contaminated with tetanus germs. These organisms enter the human body through puncture wounds and open cuts. It was an ideal situation and no wonder more French soldiers died of lockjaw after the battle near Dresden than from wounds.

The tetanus bacillus is dangerous, not because it produces pus or inflammation, but because it generates a powerful toxin that irritates and poisons the nerve centers. This takes place in from 3 to 21 days after the germ enters a contaminated wound.

The chewing muscles go into spasm and the jaws become so firmly clenched the victim is unable to open the mouth. The facial muscles are affected next, followed by the muscles of the trunk and extremities. The bouts of cramping come and go and may be so severe as to almost lift the sufferer off the bed. Sixty per cent of all victims do not survive.

This is the type of disease that is best avoided by immunization. Tetanus toxoid is so effective, no

"Of course," agreed the Londoner blandly. "That's why I threw them in the trash basket."

Herb Stein noted this sign on the windshield of a small foreign sports car: "Please help stamp out all dogs."

South Carolina States-Righter Helps Yankee Shipyard Gouge Taxpayers

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — When a South Carolina States-Righter who preaches economy goes to bat for a Yankee shipyard for the purpose of costing the taxpayers extra money, the taxpayers need to know about it. It illustrates how the American people are dishing out unnecessary dollars, partly due to weak-kneed top brass in the military who want to curry favor with Congressmen.

In this case, Vice Adm. John "Dutch" Will, who has just retired from the Military Sea Transportation Service to become head of American Export Lines which benefited from MSTs, is involved.

Even more involved is Congressman Mendel Rivers, whose heavy drinking while on Congressional junkets abroad has shocked both Americans and Europeans.

You won't find the story in any Congressional committee report or Pentagon press release, but here are the facts regarding a strange operation inside the Navy Department.

The Power Equipment Corporation, chiefly owned by Joe Kelly of Connecticut, made a low bid of $142,860 to repair the USS Randall, which is operated by Admiral Will's Military Sea Transportation fleet. The ship was delivered to the Power Equipment Corporation in Brooklyn for overhaul on March 3. On March 6, three days later, company owner Kelly was clamoring

Pressure Pays Off

G. D. Cross, Brooklyn port engineer for the Military Sea Transportation Service, ruled that the "extras" would have to be rebid. Kelly promptly started applying pressure. He asked a friend in the Pentagon, James P. Goode, to arrange an appointment with Admiral Will. Simultaneously, Kelly was pulling more potent strings.

The Military Sea Transportation Service must answer to the House Merchant Marine Committee and the House Armed Services Committee. High on the list of both committees is Congressman Rivers of South Carolina. Through an intermediary, Kelly arranged for Rivers to call Admiral Will.

"What's all this trouble over extras?" Rivers began his conversation. Then he asked the admiral to see Kelly, even though he does not come from South Carolina.

Kelly got in to see the admiral at 9:30 A. M. on March 10. While Kelly was still seated across from his desk, Will called his commander in Brooklyn, Rear Adm. D. T. Eller, and ordered him to negotiate with Kelly.

This fast action shows what a Congressman who meddles with the taxpayers' money can do when he applies the heat. It also shows how some Pentagon officials listen to any hint from Congress.

As a result, Power Equipment was paid an extra $104,394 for extra work. This was about two-thirds more than the original low bid of $142,860.

However, Kelly and his Power Equipment Company still weren't satisfied. He came back on April 25 with a demand for another $129,000. He had little to back up the claim, chiefly cited vague generalities.

MSTs officers asked for a detailed breakdown. Finally, on May 15, Kelly brought back a revised claim for $166,581.19. This still didn't satisfy the MSTs. Its people below Admiral Will were careful about the taxpayers' money. So, on June 9, Kelly up-

ped his demand still higher — to $173,150.61.

Praise For The Admiral

Kelly cited few specifics to justify all this extra money, chiefly blamed the extra cost upon the MSTs for "delays" and "interference." August Kreuzkamp, president of Power Equipment, admitted to Admiral Will that there had been a strange breakdown in the company's bookkeeping. When MSTs wanted the cost figures, those figures just weren't available.

More important, however, the pressure from Capitol Hill continued. Congressman Rivers, the statuesque South Carolinian, had already telephoned the admiral. Now he introduced a flattering biography of him in the Congressional Record. It read in part:

When Jack Anderson, my assistant, telephoned Joe Kelly repeatedly to ask why he needed all the extra money, Kelly's office finally alibied that Kelly was "out of the country." Actually, he had been in Washington the day before.

Congressman Rivers, when queried, pretended complete innocence. He admitted telephoning Admiral Will about Kelly, but had no explanation as to why he was helping someone outside his district get extra money from the taxpayers.

He said he believed Kelly had deliberately underbid and was trying to make up for it by padding his books with "extras."

At first, the admiral refused to say who had called him from Congress. When Jack Anderson continued to cross-examine him, the admiral finally said: "I'm not going to lie to you. Yes, I got a call from Congressman Rivers."

$4,000,000 In Improvements Proposed For State College

FROSTBURG — The State Department of Education has recommended a program calling for an outlay of nearly $4,000,000 over the next five years in capital improvements at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The program was submitted to the State Planning Department this week. The planning unit will screen the suggestions and make recommendations to Gov. Tawes, who will in turn, present his program to the Legislature.

The State board has advocated an appropriation of $1,430,500 at Frostburg for the next fiscal year.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the college, said this would provide for the following:

Construction of a woman's residence hall, $400,000; construction of a men's residence hall, $400,000; purchase of land west of Maple Street and opposite Comp-ton Hall, $60,000; purchase of the Frost Mansion to be used as a faculty residence, $41,000; site improvement including the athletic area, $145,000; plans for an addition to the science building, $3,500; remodeling Allegany Hall, the present campus school elementary school into college classrooms, $35,000; plans for the construction of a library building, $9,000.

For 1961, Hardesty said, the state board proposes these improvements: Equipment for women's residence, $30,000; equipment for men's residence hall, $30,000; construction of an addition to the science building, Garrett Hall, $138,000; construction of a library building, $300,000, for a total of $758,600.

Gas Company Erecting New Office Center

Frostburg Gets $60,000 Building

FROSTBURG — The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company is building a new $60,000 office and operational center here to provide more efficient quarters for serving some 3,200 area customers.

The one-story concrete block structure will house a collection office, home service center, shop and garage. The Wilson Construction Company, of Cumberland, is constructing the building. Completion is expected before December 1.

Located at 82 East Main Street, the building will be 28 feet wide and 104 feet deep. The Main Street front will be faced with brick and a planter for shrubbery will extend across most of the front below a picture window.

G. C. Robbins, Cumberland district manager, said C & A's new quarters will enable personnel to better serve gas users in Frostburg, Grantsville, Mt. Savage, Shaft and Eckhart.

Repairs and remodeling of the company's present office at 88 East Main Street would be too costly, Robbins said. In addition, the office and shop are separate buildings. The new office will improve efficiency by co-ordinating customer service work and the processing of customer accounts.

The front part of the new building will include a collection counter and display area for gas appliances. To the rear of that section will be a home service center where cooking and home-making demonstrations can be held.

The rear portion will have a record storage room, equipment housing area and a garage for vehicles. A 60-foot area behind the building will be paved and used as a parking area.

Hot-water pipes will be installed in the concrete walks in front and on the east side of the building to melt snow automatically as it falls on the walks, the official explained. Air-conditioning and heating will be done with gas in a single unit that shifts from one duty to the other with a flip of a switch, Robbins said.

The home service center will feature automatic gas appliances—built-in oven and range, refrigerator, dryer, and automatic washer. It will seat 40 persons.

Mrs. Catherine Langan, supervising clerk, will be in charge of the office under the direction of W. A. Withrow, district office manager. All operations are under the supervision of Robbins.

C & A will not own the new building, but has entered into a long-term leasing arrangement with the owners.

FRANKLIN — Pendleton County is one of 190 counties included in an extensive study being conducted by Berea (Ky.) College.

The project, named "Southern Appalachian Studies," is being carried out during 1959-60 in an effort to determine accurately the economic, social, cultural and religious conditions of this particular region of the United States. Counties which are being studied are located in seven states—Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee, West Virginia and Virginia.

The studies are under the direction of a central staff consisting of Dr. W. D. Weatherford of Berea College, who is general director of administration; Dr. Thomas Ford, University of Kentucky, director of research; Dr. Earl D. Brewer, Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia, director of religious research, and Dr. Rupert Vance, University of North Carolina, research consultant. In addition, 15 other representatives of various colleges and universities in the southern Appalachian region are working on different phases of the program. Several area and national offices of Protestant denominations are also supporting the studies.

Religious research in Pendleton County will get under way this month when two workers arrive to conduct a survey. They are being sent here by the National Lutheran Council, one of the co-operating religious agencies. Both are teachers in the Christian Day School System of the American Lutheran Church—Miss Lois Philippi of Blue Island, Illinois, and Miss Laura Krambe of South Burnaby, British Columbia, Canada. After consultation here with Dr. Brewer of Atlanta, they will spend about three weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Wilson, Bealls Lane.

Jurges To Manage Red Sox; Score Fans 14 K. C. Batters

Higgins Gets Release From Boston Club

Served Four Years, Jurges Makes Debut As Pilot In Majors

BOSTON (UPI)—Mike Higgins, American League manager of the year four seasons back, was fired Friday as manager of the Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators coach Billy Jurges was named to replace him.

Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey said he felt "a change at this time would be beneficial to the ball club."

"It's just one of those things," said the usually reserved Yawkey. "I feel a lot of it is not Higgins' fault. He has always been a good friend and we've always been close."

It was the first time Yawkey had ever fired a manager in mid-season since he brought the Red Sox in 1933.

The announcements followed several days of rumors that Higgins would be relieved of managing the Red Sox, currently mired in last place and in the throes of a five-game losing streak.

Yawkey added almost bitterly to newsmen that "The press probably helped hasten Higgins' departure."

Yawkey apparently was leaving Higgins' baseball future up to the former Philadelphia, Detroit and Boston third baseman. He said he would meet with Higgins in the "next few days" and discuss the future.

"In my book he would be a good man for any organization," said Yawkey. "I told him on the telephone today that I would be very happy to have him with me."

Jurges, 51, has been a Washington coach for the past three years. He was an outstanding shortstop for the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants during his 16 year major league career. He has never managed a major league club before.

Billy Wireman Named Shepherd College Coach

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Billy O. Wireman, former assistant basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, has been named coach of baseball and basketball at Shepherd College. President Oliver S. Ikenberry announced.

Wireman was at Kentucky under Coach Adolph Rupp in 1957. He also was assistant basketball coach and director of college swimming at Georgetown (Ky.) College for two years.

His most recent job was at the George Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville, Tenn.

Coach Jesse Riggelman and Coach Cletus Lowe have asked to be excused from coaching basketball and baseball at Shepherd, and Wireman was picked for the assignment. Riggelman will continue as head football coach and director of athletics. Lowe wants to teach fulltime in the social science of the college.

The suspension notice was received by the Cards in a telegram from National League President Warren Giles.

Coach Harry Walker was suspended for two days and fined $100 for his part in the argument with umpire Shags Crawford.

Thursday night's ejection was the fifth of the season for Hemus, a first-year manager.

Al Smith's Homer Sinks Detroit, 6-5

Nets Chisox Win In Tenth Inning

DETROIT (UPI)—Left fielder Al Smith homered in the 10th inning Friday to give the Chicago White Sox a 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Smith's homer off reliever Tom Morgan came with none aboard. Detroit threatened to score in the bottom of the 10th when Harvey Kuenn led off with a walk but Chicago pitcher Turk Lown got Charlie Maxwell and Gus Zernial on flies and struck out Bob Wilson to end the game.

Detroit had come from behind to tie the score in the ninth and force the game into an extra inning.

Chicago starter Early Wynn allowed only one hit until the sixth inning when he was tagged for a three-run homer by Zernial. Wynn, who was seeking his 12th victory of the year, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Jerry Staley replaced him.

Chicago tied the score 4-4 in the seventh inning when Jim Landis walked and Norm Cash singled to right for Wynn, sending him to third. Landis scored on a double-play ball.

Chicago forged into a 5-4 lead in the 8th inning on a single by Lollar and a double by Torgeson. Detroit tied it up in the ninth on a homer by Bob Wilson.

Willie Mays Stars As Giants Win, 4-0

CHICAGO (UPI)—Johnny Antonelli pitched a five-hit shutout against the Chicago Cubs for a 4-0 triumph Friday to boost the San Francisco Giants within four percentage points of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves.

It was Antonelli's 12th win of the season.

Centerfielder Willie Mays was a standout defensive aid to Antonelli, catching 10 fly balls to come within two of the record of 12 set by Earl Clark of the Boston Braves in 1929. Only three other flies were caught by San Francisco outfielders as Mays ranged wide into both left and right field and nearly to the infield, to make catches.

Willie Kirkland and Orlando Cepeda contributed home runs to the win, Kirkland blasting his 14th in the first inning and Cepeda collecting his 17th in the eighth. The other San Francisco runs came on a walk and three singles in the seventh.

Jurges To Manage Red Sox; Score Fans 14 K.C. Batters

Higgins Gets Release From Boston Club

Served Four Years, Jurges Makes Debut As Pilot In Majors

BOSTON (UPI) — Mike Higgins, American League manager of the year four seasons back, was fired Friday as manager of the Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators coach Billy Jurges was named to replace him.

Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey said he felt "a change at this time would be beneficial to the ball club."

"It's just one of those things," said the usually reserved Yawkey. "I feel a lot of it is not Higgins' fault. He has always been a good friend and we've always been close."

It was the first time Yawkey had ever fired a manager in mid-season since he brought the Red Sox in 1933.

The announcements followed several days of rumors that Higgins would be relieved of managing the Red Sox, currently mired in a five-game losing streak.

Yawkey added almost bitterly to newsmen that "The press probably helped hasten Higgins' departure."

Yawkey apparently was leaving Higgins' baseball future up to the former Philadelphia, Detroit and Boston third baseman. He said he would meet with Higgins in the "next few days" and discuss the future.

"In my book he would be a good man for any organization," said Yawkey. "I told him on the telephone today that I would be very happy to have him with me."

Jurges, 51, has been a Washington coach for the past three years. He was an outstanding shortstop for the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants during his 16-year major league career. He has never managed a major league club before.

Billy Wireman Named Shepherd College Coach

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Billy O. Wireman, former assistant basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, has been named coach of baseball and basketball at Shepherd College, President Oliver S. Ikenberry announced.

His most recent job was at the George Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville, Tenn. Coach Jesse Riggelman and Coach Cletus Lowe have asked to be excused from coaching basketball and baseball at Shepherd, and Wireman was picked for the assignment. Riggelman will continue as head football coach and director of athletics. Lowe wants to teach fulltime in the social science of the college.

The suspension notice was received by the Cards in a telegram from National League President Warren Giles.

Coach Harry Walker was suspended for two days and fined $100 for his part in the argument with umpire Shags Crawford.

Third base coach Johnny Keane will manage the team during Hemus' suspension.

Thursday night's ejection was the fifth of the season for Hemus, a first-year manager.

Al Smith's Homer Sinks Detroit, 6-5

Nets Chisox Win In Tenth Inning

DETROIT (UPI) — Left fielder Al Smith homered in the 10th inning Friday to give the Chicago White Sox a 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Smith's homer off reliever Tom Morgan came with none aboard. Detroit threatened to score in the bottom of the 10th when Harvey Kuenn led off with a walk but Chicago pitcher Turk Lown got Charlie Maxwell and Gus Zernial on flies and struck out Bob Wilson to end the game.

Detroit had come from behind to tie the score in the ninth and force the game into an extra inning.

Chicago starter Early Wynn allowed only one hit until the sixth inning when he was tagged for a three-run homer by Zernial. Wynn, who was seeking his 12th victory of the year, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Jerry Stiller replaced him.

Chicago tied the score 4-4 in the seventh inning when Jim Landis walked and Norm Cash singled to right for Wynn, sending him to third. Landis scored on a double-play ball.

Chicago forged into a 5-4 lead in the 8th inning on a single by Lollar and a double by Torgeson. Detroit tied it up in the ninth on a homer by Bob Wilson.

Willie Mays Stars As Giants Win, 4-0

CHICAGO (UPI) — Johnny Antonelli pitched a five-hit shutout against the Chicago Cubs for a 4-0 triumph Friday to boost the San Francisco Giants within four percentage points of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves.

It was Antonelli's 12th win of the season.

Centerfielder Willie Mays was a standout defensive aid to Antonelli, catching 10 fly balls to come within two of the record of 12 set by Earl Clark of the Boston Braves in 1929. Only three other flies were caught by San Francisco outfielders as Mays ranged wide into both left and right field and nearly to the infield, to make catches.

Willie Kirkland and Orlando Cepeda contributed home runs to the win, Kirkland blasting his 14th in the first inning and Cepeda collecting his 17th in the eighth. The other San Francisco runs came on a walk and three singles in the seventh.

McDaniel Rescues Bridges In Ninth

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Marshall Bridges, 28-year-old rookie left-hander, held the Los Angeles Dodgers scoreless for eight innings, then got a rally-stopping assist from Lindy McDaniel in the ninth as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Dodgers Friday 3-2.

Bridges, who scored his second victory without a loss since being brought up from Rochester a month ago, permitted the Dodgers only three hits and struck out nine before Los Angeles batters got to him in the ninth.

Junior Gilliam led off the frame with a double, Charlie Neal followed with a single. Don Demeter's sacrifice fly brought in Gilliam and when Gil Hodges scored Neal with a double to put the Dodgers within one run, Bridges was removed.

McDaniel was brought in for the 23rd time this season. Lindy fanned pinchhitter Duke Snider and retired hot-hitting Wally Moon on a fly that ended the game.

City Voting List Down

City registration figures show a decline of 144 voters for the first six months of the year, according to a report by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

As of June 30, the city carried 11,629 voters on its rolls, Ullery said, adding that the city started the year with 11,773 registrants.

Comprising the registration total as of June 30 were 6,024 white males, 125 colored males, 5,402 white females and 78 colored females.

Ullery said a gradual decline in the registration total has been noticeable since the city adopted the plan of keeping a continuous registration check.

The majority of the names stricken from the registration list are attributable to two factors, Ullery explained. These are for reasons of death or failure to vote within the past five years, he added.

Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk, said 16 deceased voters were taken from the list during June, 13 during May, 23 in April, 14 in March, and a total of 30 for the combined months of January and February. In addition to the names stricken because of death, 87 names were removed in March because of failure to vote, Mrs. Mangus said.

There were 39 new voters added to the registration list during the first six months of the year, she continued. Seven new voters were added during the months of January, March and May, four were added in February, eight in April and six during June.

Mrs. Mangus said the half-year total is 192 less than were registered last June 30 when 11,821 names were carried on the list.

High-Fidelity Background Music Announcement!

Hi-Fi Music Inc., is proud to announce that it has a franchise with Alto Fonic Corp., Palo Alto, California, and is now ready to furnish the very best in high-fidelity background music from a central location to commercial and industrial subscribers in Cumberland and vicinity. The very latest Ampex world famous Model-458 magnetic tape reproducers are used. This equipment automatically mixes music selections between two different programmed tapes in any pre-set ratio.

This music is scientifically programmed for background and general listening pleasure use. It is free from rock and roll, void from distracting vocals, free from long silent periods, is recorded at a fixed volume level, has no distracting disc noises, has no quality distortion and no announcements or commercials. This music is made up of never tiring selections in great variety from time tested favorites, to the latest hits and great show tunes. The complete tape library consists of over 23,000 selections and more are added every month!

Good background music is now generally recognized as an effective and economical form of public and employee relations. It alone can give a brightened all-over atmosphere that has a near-magic ability to help people express their better traits, especially those of happiness and contentedness.

Good background music makes common-place environments take on a new and friendlier atmosphere; makes them "feel" right to be in. Some authorities consider music to be more effectively appreciated than either color or form. Others consider harmony-conditioning more important than air-conditioning because of its tension alleviating effects. Tension itself is in many cases, the starting point for serious physical breakdowns.

You are sure of getting the best in music . . . because it comes from the world's largest lease exchange tape library.

The cost for this new way of living for commercial and industrial accounts, is as low as $15 per month plus 8% Federal Tax; which includes: music especially arranged, expertly recorded, scientifically programmed, guaranteed high-fidelity, with a tremendous variety of music and orchestras. It also includes all ASCAP and BMI performance fees.

Call us promptly for additional information.

Bold Planning, Big Equipment Used To Build Modern Highways

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

Using bold planning techniques, modern materials and huge earth moving equipment, road builders are carving out new and better traffic patterns for citizens of Allegany County.

Moving the course of a swift stream, bridging it with webs of steel and concrete or gouging cuts hundreds of feet deep into the top of mountains have become routine as road builders straighten out the winding roads which served well for early residents of the area.

The Indian paths and animal trails, such as the Buffalo Traces, served the needs of early settlers well enough. If the roads were wretched, they were at least passable for men and horses, and when widened they served for primitive wagons.

When early highways such as the National Pike were built, most of the original curves remained, since cuts or fills were out of the question with labor and materials at hand.

A striking example of the progress which has been made in earth moving is to be found on Route 40, where a 149-foot cut, deepest in Maryland, was made to lower the grade as the highway tops Polish Mountain.

Work began six weeks ago on a Route 36 project designed to eliminate one of the most treacherous stretches of road in Allegany County.

The project which will continue a modern highway between Corriganville and Barrelville, is being built for the Maryland State Roads Commission by the S. T. Brotmearke Construction Company.

The 2.713-mile contract is being built at a cost of $1,027,496. Grading and drainage work will be completed this year and the area will be surfaced next spring.

A rough job, it will involve changing the course of Jennings Run in four locations, and in all will require an estimated mile of new channel for the stream.

The present road is narrow and is hemmed in by the run on one side and by cliffs on the other.

A new steel beam bridge with a 60-foot span will cross the creek near Barrelville, and a pedestrian bridge will be provided at the intersection of Route 36 and Route 47, the Wellersburg Road. Brotmearke crews have already completed about 35 per cent of the channel work and are making good progress on the entire project.

All of this work is part of a SRC plan to provide a modern highway connecting Route 40 in the Narrows all the way to Frostburg on Route 36.

Completed last year was the first link, which included a modern intersection for Routes 40 and 36 in the Narrows and four miles of new and relocated road to the outskirts of Corriganville.

Virtually completed is the Flintstone bypass project.

The contract, which connects completed roads on the west slope of Polish Mountain and the east side of Martin Mountain, was awarded to the Hazelwood Construction Company.

This highway, which is on a generally level route, will form

one lane of an eventual dual lane highway. The connection is being built at a cost of $1,071,827.

Cumberland Contracting Company crews should complete this year the first contract of the Cumberland Thruway project.

Known as the Industrial Highway, the contract begins at the new pre-stressed concrete Evitts Creek Bridge and ends at West Street here.

Excess dirt from the project is being placed here in the vicinity of the Wineow Street subway to provide fill for the extension which will bring the highway to the center of the city.

South of the city, the Cumberland Contracting Company is widening and resurfacing 2.37 miles of Route 51, the Uhl Highway, the Oldtown Road, from the entrance of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company to Spring Gap. The work will cost $349,768.

Widening and resurfacing work is under way on Route 40 from Route 36 to near the LaVale fire hall.

BEFORE: Gone forever is this idyllic scene along State Route 36 between Corriganville and Barrelville, where a quaint old foot bridge spans Jennings Run from the winding road on the right side of the creek.

NOW: A modern, wide highway on the left bank of the creek will replace the old route. This photo shows where the woods have been cleared, and part of the newly graded road is visible below the bridge.

Worker Hurt Seriously In 63-Foot Fall

R. W. Riley Plunges From Scaffold

A 26-year-old local construction worker was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he fell about 63 feet from a scaffold at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Five of his co-workers on the scaffold at the time of the accident escaped serious injury, although one of them narrowly escaped plunging to the ground when his foot caught in the scaffold.

Robert W. Riley, 120 Monroe Street, city, was unconscious when he was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W. Va., where the five other men were also taken for observation but later were released.

Unconscious After Fall

Attaches at the hospital said the victim remained unconscious late last night and his condition was "unfavorable." X-rays were taken, although attaches did not know the full extent of the victim's injuries.

One of the other men, William J. Pifalo, 31, of RD 2, Frostburg, almost plunged to the ground but his foot caught in the scaffold and he was pulled to safety by the other men who managed to keep their balance on the scaffold.

The accident occurred about 2:30 p. m. The men were reported to have been cleaning block that had been laid on a stock preparation building being constructed by Tidewater - Hazlewood, contractors for the expansion work at the paper mill.

Scaffold Gear Fails

The scaffold had been lowered about 10 feet, and when the men attempted to lower it further to get to other blocks, one of the eight lowering devices apparently failed to function properly and the scaffold was jerked.

Mr. Riley lost his balance and plunged 63 feet down an elevator shaft to the ground.

He has been employed by Tidewater-Hazlewood since June of 1957.

The five other men who were taken to the hospital for a check-up include Mr. Pifalo; Robert H. Hoffman, 53, of Ellerslie; Raymond Kennell, RD 1, Hyndman; Stanton H. Anderson, 53, of RD 5, Cumberland, and Paul Poorbaugh, 39, of Corriganville.

'Forgiveness' Month In Effect At Local Library

July is "forgiveness month" at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said all overdue books may be returned to the library with no penalty. This includes all free books loaned to children, high school students and grownups.

She said that rental books are not included in the program, which has been held each year for about a decade. Miss Walsh said the project is effective and helpful in getting many books back on the shelves for use by others.

On July 1, at the outset of "forgiveness month", one person walked in owing dues of 25 cents which were disregarded. Miss Walsh said the borrower naturally was happy about the whole thing.

Area Holiday Traffic Heavy

Sunny skies with temperatures ranging from 80 to 85 degrees are forecast for those who plan to be outdoors celebrating the Fourth of July.

Pennsylvania State Police also reported heavy holiday traffic along the Turnpike. Many Marylanders were headed in the direction of Shawnee Park yesterday evening. Every available trooper is on duty over the holiday weekend.

If the bikes are not claimed, members of the fire department plan to repair them before turning them over to the Associated Charities for distribution at Christmas.

Fourth Of July 50 Years Ago: 'Great Day, Great Weather, Great Doings'

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

"A great day, great weather and great doings" best described the Fourth of July celebration in Cumberland 50 years ago.

A newspaper account of the 1909 celebration shows that you could have boarded a trolley car and traveled to Narrows Park, where SS. Peter and Paul Church held a picnic highlighted by dancing on the pavilion.

Farther up at Seiss's Grove, the Sons of Veterans held an outing and unfurled the Stars and Stripes in patriotic fashion. The Cumberland Concert Band added life to the occasion with soul-stirring music.

St. Patrick's Church held its customary lawn fete in front of the church where residents could take a quiet stroll in "one of the loveliest grass plots in the county."

Fun On The River

That year a large crowd celebrated the Fourth at Riverside Park. And if you looked across the river into West Virginia, you could see many celebraters in the vicinity of the Potomac Club.

During the afternoon children played on the club's lawn, while there were aquatic contests "with individual skill and pluck in all participants who emphasized the unequalled advantages of the location for healthful recreation."

In a motor boat race, a feature of the day, the skippers traveled four miles upstream and return. Charles Smith won the F. C. Dreyer cup from the "Aimee," which captured it in the 1908 Independence Day celebration. Andy Bender was at the controls of the "Aimee."

High Diver

At 4:30 that afternoon Fred Dreyer successfully performed the high dive from the top of a ladder 50 feet above the water on the north span of the bridge.

That night the Potomac Club was illuminated with myriads of Japanese lanterns and some 20 decorated and illuminated boats plied the placid Potomac. Andy Bender in his "ruby boat" was declared the winning entry.

For those interested in baseball, two games were played in Cumberland that day. Those who did not care to join the crowds sought the shade laden with lunch baskets. Boating on the river was a popular pastime for holiday celebraters.

George's Creek Busy

Plenty of activities took place in communities along George's Creek. At Frostburg, the main attraction was the picnic and athletic sports held by St. Michael's Athletic Society at YMI Park at the east end of town, where the Arion Band gave a concert.

The late U.S. Senator George L. Wellington delivered "an able address" during the 1909 gathering at the park. A feature of the day was the six-mile marathon won by Edward Keller of Eckhart, who covered the course in 35 minutes, 37 seconds.

A grand parade at Midland formed at the corner of Main and Union streets and marched to Lover's Retreat grove where a picnic and celebration ensued.

At Detmold's Grove near Lonaconing, Judge D. Lindley Sloan gave an "eloquent and patriotic speech" at the picnic. A big parade was also held in Lonaconing that year.

Methodists To Build New Parsonage

Cresaptown Methodist Church is planning to build a new parsonage near the edifice.

Rev. Robert E. Bavender, pastor, said the present parsonage is located across McMullen Highway from the church.

A street and parking lot with facilities for 60 cars have been placed in operation at the church. Parishioners enter the lot on the south side of the church by way of Bell Street, which runs off Brant Road.

The church purchased property on the west side of Bell Street, according to a deed filed this week in the land records office of the Allegany County Court House.

The land was purchased from Clara Belle Van Meter, widow of Milton G. Urner Van Meter. It is part of the same property conveyed by Annie M. Van Meter to Milton G. and Charles E. Van Meter on July 19, 1907.

Rev. Bavender said the parsonage is still in the planning stage and it is hoped that work will begin late this year or early next year.

$704 Damage Suit Is Settled Here

A damage suit stemming from an auto accident January 21 in which a seven-year-old boy was injured, has been settled out of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Bold Planning, Big Equipment Used To Build Modern Highways

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

Using bold planning techniques, modern materials and huge earth moving equipment, road builders are carving out new and better traffic patterns for citizens of Allegany County.

Moving the course of a swift stream, bridging it with webs of steel and concrete or gouging cuts hundreds of feet deep into the top of mountains have become routine as road builders straighten out the winding roads which served well for early residents of the area.

The Indian paths and animal trails, such as the Buffalo Traces, served the needs of early settlers well enough. If the roads were wretched, they were at least passable for men and horses, and when widened they served for primitive wagons.

When early highways such as the National Pike were built, most of the original curves remained, since cuts or fills were out of the question with labor and materials at hand.

A striking example of the progress which has been made in earth moving is to be found on Route 40, where a 149-foot cut, deepest in Maryland, was made to lower the grade as the highway tops Polish Mountain.

Work began six weeks ago on a Route 36 project designed to eliminate one of the most treacherous stretches of road in Allegany County.

The project which will continue a modern highway between Corriganville and Barreilville, is being built for the Maryland State Roads Commission by the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company.

The 2.713-mile contract is being built at a cost of $1,027,496. Grading and drainage work will be completed this year and the area will be surfaced next spring.

A rough job, it will involve changing the course of Jennings Run in four locations, and in all will require an estimated mile of new channel for the stream.

The present road is narrow and is hemmed in by the run on one side and by cliffs on the other.

A new steel beam bridge with a 60-foot span will cross the creek near Barreilville, and a pedestrian bridge will be provided at the intersection of Route 36 and Route 47, the Wellersburg Road. Brotemarkle crews have already completed about 35 per cent of the channel work and are making good progress on the entire project.

All of this work is part of a SRC plan to provide a modern highway connecting Route 40 in the Narrows all the way to Frostburg on Route 36.

Completed last year was the first link, which included a modern intersection for Routes 40 and 36 in the Narrows and four miles of new and relocated road to the outskirts of Corriganville.

Virtually completed is the Flintstone bypass project.

The contract, which connects completed roads on the west slope of Polish Mountain and the east side of Martin Mountain, was awarded to the Hazelwood Construction Company.

This highway, which is on a generally level route, will form

one lane of an eventual dual lane highway. The connection is being built at a cost of $1,071,827.

Cumberland Contracting Company crews should complete this year the first contract of the Cumberland Thruway project.

Known as the Industrial Highway, the contract begins at the new pre-stressed concrete Evitts Creek Bridge and ends at West Street here.

Excess dirt from the project is being placed here in the vicinity of the Wineow Street subway to provide fill for the extension which will bring the highway to the center of the city.

South of the city, the Cumberland Contracting Company is widening and resurfacing 2.37 miles of Route 51, the Uhl Highway, the Oldtown Road, from the entrance of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company to Spring Gap. The work will cost $349,768.

Widening and resurfacing work is under way on Route 40 from Route 36 to near the LaVale fire hall.

BEFORE: Gone forever is this idyllic scene along State Route 36 between Corriganville and Barreilville, where a quaint old foot bridge spans Jennings Run from the winding road on the right side of the creek.

NOW: A modern, wide highway on the left bank of the creek will replace the old route. This photo shows where the woods have been cleared, and part of the newly graded road is visible below the bridge.

Worker Hurt Seriously In 63-Foot Fall

R. W. Riley Plunges From Scaffold

A 26-year-old local construction worker was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he fell about 63 feet from a scaffold at the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Five of his co-workers on the scaffold at the time of the accident escaped serious injury, although one of them narrowly escaped plunging to the ground when his foot caught in the scaffold.

Robert W. Riley, 120 Monroe Street, city, was unconscious when he was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser, W. Va., where the five other men were also taken for observation but later were released.

Unconscious After Fall

Attaches at the hospital said the victim remained unconscious late last night and his condition was "unfavorable." X-rays were taken, although attaches did not know the full extent of the victim's injuries.

One of the other men, William J. Pifalo, 31, of RD 2, Frostburg, almost plunged to the ground but his foot caught in the scaffold and he was pulled to safety by the other men who managed to keep their balance on the scaffold.

The accident occurred about 2:30 p. m. The men were reported to have been cleaning block that had been laid on a stock preparation building being constructed by Tidewater - Hazlewood, contractors for the expansion work at the paper mill.

Scaffold Gear Fails

The scaffold had been lowered about 10 feet, and when the men attempted to lower it further to get to other blocks, one of the eight lowering devices apparently failed to function properly and the scaffold was jerked.

Mr. Riley lost his balance and plunged 63 feet down an elevator shaft to the ground.

He has been employed by Tidewater-Hazlewood since June of 1957.

The five other men who were taken to the hospital for a check-up include Mr. Pifalo; Robert H. Hoffman, 53, of Ellerslie; Raymond Kennell, RD 1, Hyndman; Stanton H. Anderson, 33, of RD 5, Cumberland, and Paul Poorbaugh, 39, of Corriganville.

'Forgiveness' Month In Effect At Local Library

July is "forgiveness month" at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said all overdue books may be returned to the library with no penalty. This includes all free books loaned to children, high school students and grownups.

She said that rental books are not included in the program, which has been held each year for about a decade. Miss Walsh said the project is effective and helpful in getting many books back on the shelves for use by others.

On July 1, at the outset of "forgiveness month", one person walked in owing dues of 25 cents which were disregarded. Miss Walsh said the borrower naturally was happy about the whole thing.

Area Holiday Traffic Heavy

Sunny skies with temperatures ranging from 80 to 85 degrees are forecast for those who plan to be outdoors celebrating the Fourth of July.

State Police of the tri-state area are having their hands full with heavy traffic along the highway. West Virginia State Police at Romney said heavy traffic was moving westbound on U.S. Route 50 last night. No serious accidents were reported.

Pennsylvania State Police also reported heavy holiday traffic along the Turnpike. Many Marylanders were headed in the direction of Shawnee Park yesterday evening. Every available trooper is on duty over the holiday weekend.

Maryland State Police had the same story to tell—heavy traffic along the highways. Leaves have been cancelled at LaVale barracks over the weekend and troopers will be patrolling the highways.

City Has Surplus Of Unclaimed Bikes

The City Police Department has a surplus supply of bicycles on hand, according to Chief B. F. Gaffney.

Chief Gaffney said yesterday that local youngsters who have had bikes stolen should check at the Police Station in order to reclaim them.

The number of bikes being housed at Police Headquarters will be held for another week before they are turned over to the Associated Charities, Chief Gaffney said.

If the bikes are not claimed, members of the fire department plan to repair them before turning them over to the Associated Charities for distribution at Christmas.

Bert Caldara of Mt. Savage, whose hobby has been fireworks for the past 42 years, will be in charge of the colorful array which will be viewed by thousands of residents in just about every section of the city.

A lot of planning goes on before the first shell is fired from one of the single-firing mortars used in the display.

A trench six inches wide, eight inches deep and long enough to hold a row of 72 mortars, as well as two pits five feet long and two feet deep, must be dug.

About two hours before the display begins, the shells are sorted and placed in readiness for the evening's program, said Mr. Caldara. Every effort is made to protect the spectators. The immediate area is roped off and auxiliary police will be on duty. Standing by will be two city firemen with a pumper for use in the event of fire.

Mr. Caldara, who has a lot of fun putting on displays, said something new has been added to this year's fireworks. He has obtained several Japanese shells which promise to be spectacular.

Among the fireworks which will draw the "oohs and ahs" of the crowd are the gold-colored "weeping willow" and the "chrysanthemum" type which give a large umbrella effect when they burst forth in the sky. As they burst, some of the fireworks measure 1,000 feet in diameter about 2,000 feet above the ground.

Parachute shells offer souvenirs for youngsters lucky enough to retrieve one as it floats to the ground. Some 200 assorted shells will be used in the display this evening, including 72 in the finale. The shells range from three to six inches in diameter, from 13 ounces to 39 pounds, and soar into the air anywhere from 800 feet to 2,300 feet, nearly a half-mile.

Mr. Caldara said the fireworks used in this evening's display are purchased from a Pennsylvania manufacturing concern. Paper, cardboard, fish glue and twine are used in making the casings, eliminating any danger of metal shrapnel injuring the bystanders.

Mr. Caldara is an old hand at making his own fireworks used in various displays around the area. His "behind the scenes" co-workers are Joseph Soethe, Keith Sisk, Robert Yeager, city, and Vernon Cost of LaVale, who have been working together about 10 years.
